Fiedlers of Germany Visit Here As Stade Rotary Representatives

By RICHARD DAVIS

Rotary International will take on a new and richer meaning for members of the Circleville Club after Tuesday's special noon luncheon meeting.

At that time, Dr. Bernhard Fiedler, president-elect of the Rotary Club in Stade, Germany, will be an extra-special guest and speaker. The Stade Rotary is the "matched" club of the Circleville unit.

The Rotary International Convention, held at Atlantic City on May 30-June 3, presented an opportunity for Dr. and Mrs. Fiedler to come to the United States. While at the U. S. gathering they decided to visit Circleville — the "brother" club of Stade.

Arrangements for the visit were made during the convention by Richard Plum, president-elect of the local unit and Dr. Robert G. Smith, a past president of Circleville Rotary.

THE VISIT by the Fiedlers of Stade, Federal Republic of Germany, is the result of a program initiated in 1963 by the president of Rotary International, Carl Miller.

Miller urged participation in a new plan to give added focus and greater depth to the problem of international understanding. Every Rotary district was "matched" with a district in another part of the world as a basis for contacts and exchanges of programs, publications, people and ideas.

The program was further expanded to "match" individual Rotary Clubs and individual members. Dr. Fiedler is the "matched" member of Dr. Carlos Alvarez of the Circleville club.

The local affiliation with Stade was completed in 1963 and Circleville members began corresponding with their counterparts in Germany. Copies of the weekly club bulletins were exchanged along with gifts at Christmas.

Dr. Fiedler and his wife are staying with Dr. Smith and his wife at 918 Circle Drive until Wednesday when they will leave for New York and return to Germany on June 15. They arrived here yesterday from Atlantic City.

Dr. Fiedler is head surgeon of a 200-bed hospital that serves the Stade area. A native of Geneva, Switzerland, he received his medical training in both

Ecuador Reds Fail in Coup

Dominica Crisis Used as Screen

QUITO, Ecuador (AP) — Communist attempts to capitalize on the Dominican Republic crisis flopped in Ecuador as in many Latin American countries. The extreme leftists may hope for better luck with internal Ecuadorian issues.

The ingredients of an explosion exist in a combination of political and economic troubles in this chronically unstable country of 5 million. If the explosion comes, a jumble of issues could produce a chaotic situation in which opportunists on the extreme left could hope to stir violence.

The ruling military junta, which seized power in July 1963, is taking cautious steps in hopes of escaping a storm. Its life depends upon whether it can overcome dissensions in its own ranks and maintain sufficient unity to keep itself in power.

The threatening storm centers about Ecuador's small middle class and business elements. The sources of the storm would be frustration with increasingly burdensome economic problems and angry impatience with the junta's reluctance to surrender power to a civilian government.

Adm. Ramon Castro Jijon heads the delicately balanced junta.

The junta outlawed the Communist party, but it also suspended all electoral processes. In response, all political parties declared themselves opposed to the military rulers.

Now, political and economic problems are merging. If and when the storm breaks, the small but violent extreme left will try to provoke violence and drag in other issues, such as "Yankee imperialism" in the Caribbean, spreading the notion that Ecuador may become a second Dominican Republic.

7 Persons Killed In Kansas Crash

ROSALIA, Kan. (AP) — Seven persons including five children, died Friday night in a two-car collision during a heavy rainstorm five miles east of this south central Kansas community, 35 miles east of Wichita.

The Kansas Highway Patrol identified the dead in one car as Lyle Edward Jackson of Lincoln, Ill.; his wife, Bonnie, 25, and three sons, Mark, 2, Mike 4½, and a 1-year-old boy.

Two children also died in the other car, Scott Dewell, 19, and his sister, Krista Ann Dewell, 11. Their parents, Dr. Halbert L. Dewell, 33, of Eureka, Kan., and his wife, Joyce, 33, were injured.

Stunning Columbus Blonde Wins Miss U.S.A. Crown

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A stunning blonde beauty from Ohio who dreamed as a child of becoming a nun holds the scepter today of Miss U.S.A.

Statuesque Sue Ann Downey, 20, of Columbus, Ohio, won the crown Friday night over 14 other finalists in the field of 47 and will represent this country in next month's Miss Universe pageant.

First runnerup, and Sue's stand-in, is Jane Nelson who, as a voice major at Arizona State University represented that state. She lives in Tularosa, N.M., and was a finalist in last fall's Miss America Pageant as Miss New Mexico.

"I'm elated. I don't believe it. It seems so, so impossible," said the shapely 35-24-35 inch, 5-foot-8 Ohio State University coed. "It's the most marvelous thing that has ever happened to me."

Usually calm and poised Sue ripped through rehearsals so fast Thursday she ended in bed with ice packs for an injured leg. But it was nerves, not the leg, that bothered her in Friday's finals.

She was still shaking after the crowning was over. Sue won $5,000 in cash, a $5,000 personal appearance contract, and a mink coat, among other prizes.

"This is—well, it's beyond dreams. When I was a child, I wanted to be a nun. Now most important to me is being a good wife and mother."

The man? "He'll be the kind that's honest, someone you can respect." Right now, she says, "there are lots of them."

Her proud parents, the John E. Downeys, and brothers Jeff, 11, and David, 17, were here for the crowning. Like others, they noticed a striking resemblance between Sue Ann and her predecessor, Bobbi Johnson of Washington, D.C.

California Senate Asks State Be Split in Two Parts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California's embattled Senate, fighting reappointment like the '49ers beat off gold mining claim jumpers, has acted to split the nation's most populous state in two.

But the State Assembly, Gov. Edmund G. Brown — and maybe the Congress of the United States — all appeared ready to head the move off at the pass.

Sen. Richard J. Dolwig, a Republican from the San Francisco Bay area community of San Mateo, offered his plan as an answer to a federal court order for the rural-dominated Senate to reapportion itself by July 1.

Dolwig reacted in angry, frontier fashion to an order that would turn the legislative upper house over to populous counties — particularly those in the southern part of the state.

But the Assembly, dominated by Southern California, was certain to turn the plan down.

"We're one state, one California," snapped Assemblyman Don Allen, D-Los Angeles, whose assembly committee would have to approve the legislation.

Gov. Brown has spoken similarly in the past.

The Senate voted 27-12 Friday night for a constitutional amendment dividing the state at the Tehachapi Mountains. A 22-16 vote sent a companion bill to the Assembly. Pending is a resolution asking Congress to approve the separation.

The southern state would have a population of 10.3 million — the third largest in the nation. It would consist of Los Angeles, Ventura, San Bernardino, Orange, Riverside, San Diego and Imperial counties. The northern state, which would have 7.8 million people, would have 51 counties.

One senator said "there are two different worlds in California."

California's Legislature once asked Congress to divide the state, but that 1859 move was ignored in the confusion of the opening of the Civil War in 1861. Five states have been formed by dividing other states.

Blonde Due To Get Her MD Degree

BALTIMORE (AP) — Some of Dr. E. A. Robinson's patients may say "ah" before they're asked.

The doctor is E. Ann Robinson, a striking blue-eyed blonde who stands, she says, "a little over six feet."

Miss Robinson will receive her M.D. degree today at the University of Maryland in College Park. Her father and grandfather graduated from the medical school, and her mother is a graduate of its school of nursing.

The father, Dr. Harry M. Robinson Jr., heads the dermatology division at the school. Miss Robinson, 25, plans to specialize in cardiology.

Why not dermatology? "I think maybe I'll save that for my brother," she said.

The brother, Harry M. Robinson III, is in pre-medical studies at Loyola College of Baltimore.

Viet Cong Hit In Retaliation

Reds Are Battered After Ambushes

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Government forces, badly battered by Viet Cong ambushes in recent days, struck back with the aid of armed U.S. helicopters and claimed today they killed 49 Communist guerrillas in a single action Friday.

A U.S. military spokesman reported that quick action by U.S. Army helicopter crews accounted for 20 of the Viet Cong dead.

Six Reds were captured and eight others taken as suspects in the operation near Vinh Long, 55 miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese units continued to comb the area Saturday with the support of armored and artillery units.

Four government soldiers reportedly were killed and four others were wounded with a U.S. Army adviser in Friday's clash. The adviser was struck in the left arm by hand grenade fragments. He was not injured seriously.

Government forces were not as fortunate in another engagement Friday. They reportedly killed five Viet Cong, but suffered 18 dead, two wounded and 32 missing themselves after a Communist battalion attacked three hamlets 265 miles north-east of Saigon.

This brought to 299 the toll of government forces killed, wounded or missing in action in the last three days.

The higher toll and pronouncements by a high U.S. military spokesman and a Communist Chinese propaganda organ underscored that the long-awaited Viet Cong monsoon offensive had begun.

The U.S. spokesman said in Saigon Friday that "the important battle of the summer of 1965 has just been joined... events have been such that we are moving into an important period of the war."

The New China News Agency described the Viet Cong offensive as "a glorious page in the annals of the liberation war in South Viet Nam, a brilliant page in a people's war... the advent of the monsoon is throwing the U.S. aggressors into still greater panic. A bigger defeat is in store for them."

10 'Head Start' Projects in Ohio Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ten Ohio Head Start projects, designed to give disadvantaged children preschool training before they enter classes this fall, have been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity.

They are (with number of children in parentheses): Washington County Society for Crippled Children (180) $24,241; Marietta City Schools (90) $13,722; Oberlin Board of Education (40) $6,259; Mount Vernon City School Board (30) $4,276; Federal-Hocking Board of Education, Coolville, (80) $14,400.

Cincinnati Board of Education (1,720) $224,199; Lima Board of Education (180) $27,602; Lakota Local School District, Risingsun (60) $8,425; Franklin City Board of Education (90) $16,073; Morgan County Welfare Department, McConnellsville (90) $13,648.

Bellefontaine Area Farm Produces Oil

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Drillers have struck oil on a Logan County farm where oil was discovered 60 years ago but ignored.

A gusher was hit at the 1,383-foot level after 20 days of drilling on the farm of Mrs. Lilly Hoover three miles east of Jackson Center.

The production rate has not yet been determined. Oil was struck at the farm in about 1905, but drillers at the time were seeking gas rather than oil and the well was sealed.

U.S. Spacemen Near Halfway Point in Flight

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronauts James A. McDivitt and Edward H. White II soared toward the halfway point of their record space flight today as medical monitors around the world kept a close electronic watch on their conditions.

America's newest heroes, who cracked the U.S. space endurance mark Friday night, were to reach the mid-point of their marathon journey at 11:11 a.m. (EST) as their Gemini 4 space ship sailed high above the United States during orbit No. 2.

As they whirled through their seemingly endless voyage, McDivitt and White were pronounced in excellent physical condition. White suffered no apparent after-effects from the 20-minute excursion he made outside the capsule shortly after Thursday's launching from Cape Kennedy.

But no American has spent as much time orbiting the earth and the medics were on the alert for any sign of physical or mental deterioration that might result from long exposure to the hostile, weightless environment. If there is trouble — and it may not show up until after they return to earth Monday — it could affect the whole future of American manned space flight.

The astronauts reported seeing another satellite whirling through the heavens Friday and trackers today were trying to determine which one it might have been.

McDivitt said that during the 19th orbit he sighted an orbiting object "with big arms sticking out." He took movies, but the glaring sun prevented him identifying it or estimating its distance from the Gemini 4.

There was some speculation it was the Pegasus 2 meteoroid detection satellite launched May 25 from Cape Kennedy.

As Gemini 4 circled round-and-round the globe, the space twins continued to perform routine test pilot tasks intended to fully qualify men and machinery for longer trips.

Business even came before congratulations Friday night when McDivitt and White broke astronaut L. Gordon Cooper's U.S. orbital record of 34 hours 20 minutes, established in May 1963.

At 8:36 p.m., the moment the new mark was set, Stuart Davis, capsule communicator at the Hawaiian tracking station, contacted the Gemini 4 by radio, relayed instructions for a medical check and read them map coordinates.

Then he added, rather matter-of-factly: "I'd also like to congratulate you on a new American space flight record."

"Roger," replied McDivitt, "we've got quite a few more (orbits) to go. Thank you very much."

They then zipped on in their planned 97-hour 50-minute voyage which is to end at 12:06 p.m. Monday with a parachute splashdown in the Atlantic Ocean 400 miles southwest of Bermuda.

The world space flight record is held by Russian cosmonaut Yuriy Gagarin.

Newsman Covers Own Son's Death

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — David Wilson, a photographer for the Lima News, had planned to help his son Dewey celebrate his 14th birthday Friday night.

Before heading home, Wilson went to a pond three miles north of here to cover a drowning. While he was taking pictures of the scene an onlooker informed Wilson that the victim was his son.

Dewey, who could not swim, was playing with two companions on a free-floating raft when he jumped off, apparently thinking the raft still was in shallow water. The water was over his head.

Nebraskans Shot in Back

Bandit Labeled Icy-Calm, Polite

BIG SPRINGS, Neb. (AP) — A huge posse spread out across sprawling plains of western Nebraska and eastern Colorado today, hunting an icy-calm gunman who killed three bank employees with shots in the back and wounded a fourth.

"Every available man in 100 miles is taking part," said Sheriff Floyd Stahr.

Late Friday Sheriff Stahr, a 6-foot-4 man in a wide-brim Western hat, made his headquarters in the bank. State troopers, FBI agents, sheriff's officers and police from neighboring towns trooped in to report to him.

The 510 residents of this village astride the Denver-to-North Platte highway 10 miles north of the Colorado border were stunned by the killings Friday.

"I have no idea why he shot them," said county Atty. Robert Richards. "They didn't resist when he told them to lay down on their stomachs."

The gunman fired eight times as the four lay on the floor of the Farmers State Bank. Three died instantly. The fourth was critically wounded.

Killed were Andreas Kjeldgaard, 77, a bachelor who was president of the bank; Glenn Hendricksen, 59, the cashier; (Continued on Page 10)

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — A Stanford University graduate student who died two years ago will be posthumously awarded a master's degree in history at Stanford graduation ceremonies June 13.

The student, William D. Scott of Colorado Springs, Colo., was killed in a Japanese railway accident. His unfinished thesis, "Britain and the Advent of National Socialism in Germany," was found, polished and submitted by his faculty adviser, Prof. David Harris.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department has repeated that the United States is willing to attend an international conference designed solely to guarantee the integrity of Cambodia.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey told newsmen Friday that is not in the interest of the United States to convert such a conference into a meeting to discuss the war in Viet Nam.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Navy Paul H. Nitze says the administration's military pay raise bill has the long-range advantage of providing annual review with pay adjustments.

In an interview Friday, Nitze also emphasized its "variable re-enlistment bonus" which would permit the secretary of defense to provide bonuses of more than $6,000 for some men.

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard spent Friday in a series of conferences with President Johnson, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and congressional leaders.

Erhard and Johnson agreed to seek new ways to end the division of Germany and to resist weakening of the Atlantic alliance. Their joint communique also called for better relations with Communist Eastern Europe.

Erhard flew back to Germany after the day of meetings.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert M. Smalley has resigned as director of public relations for the Republican National Committee to join the California political public relations firm of Whitaker and Baxter.

Smalley was named by former GOP National Chairman Dean Burch, Ray Stull, an Ohio associate of new GOP Chairman Ray Bliss, is assistant GOP publicity chief.

Nightriders Pour Shots At Deputy

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Gunmen fired six bullets into the home of the chief deputy sheriff early today as officers pressed their investigation of a terrorist-style murder.

Chief Deputy Doyle Holliday, who lives about four miles out of town, said he rushed from his house and emptied his .38 Magnum pistol at a fleeing car. "Perhaps one of the shots did some damage but I am not sure," he said.

Two of the bullets fired by the nightriders ripped through the kitchen wall. Two hit an air conditioning unit and another lodged in the wall of a breezeway to the garage. The other could not be located in the darkness.

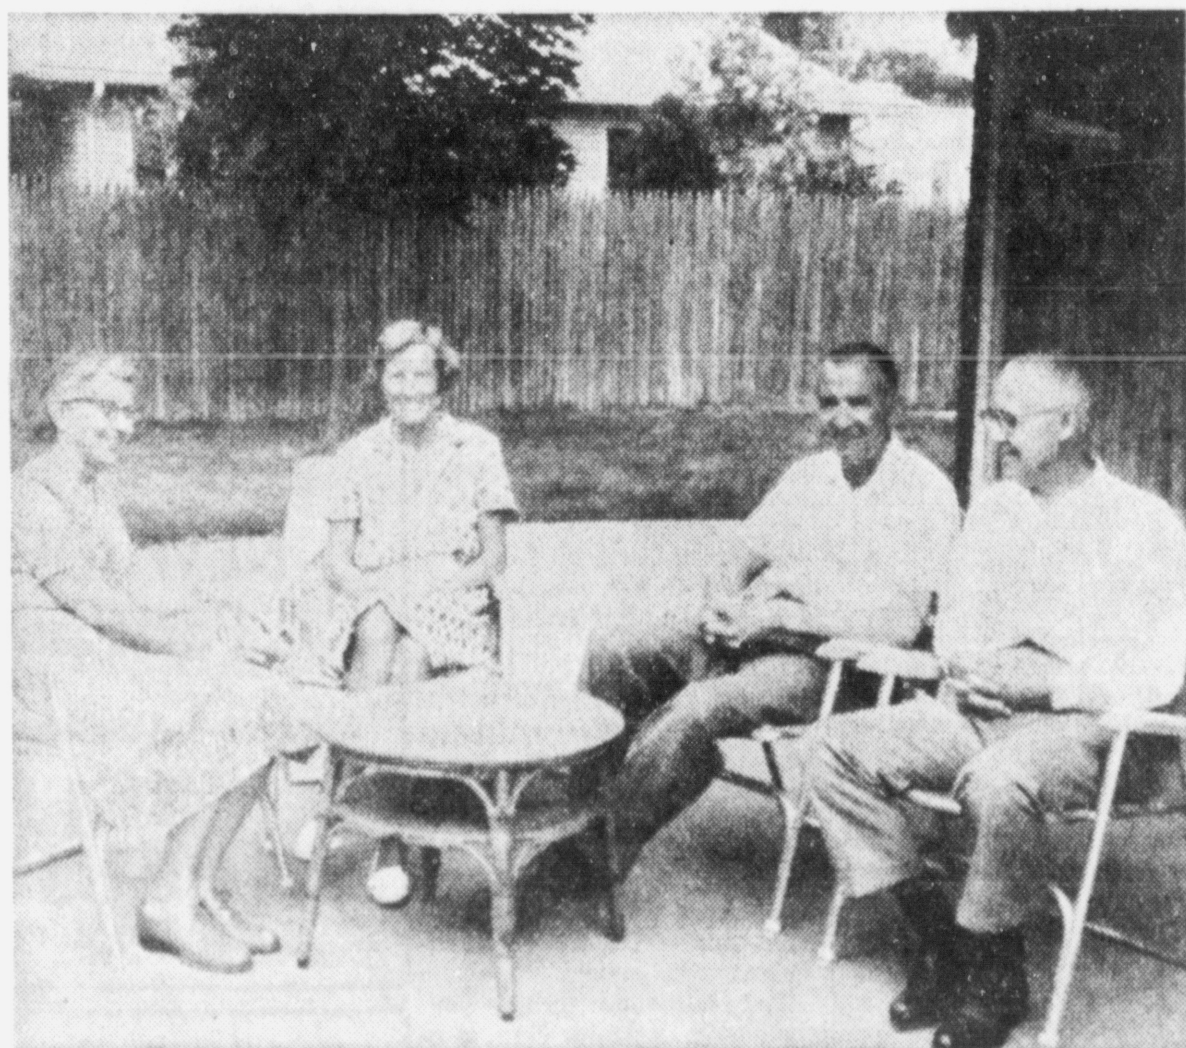

The shooting came as state, federal and local officers pressed a massive investigation into the shooting of Washington Parish's first Negro deputy sheriff—O'Neal Moore.

A white man charged in the case, Ernest R. McElveen, 41, of Bogalusa, waived extradition Friday and was returned to Louisiana from Tylertown, Miss., where he was arrested. Holliday said he and his wife were sitting in a room behind the kitchen.

"The bullets hit the wall right behind us," he said.

House Plants May Now Be Set Outdoors

Weather at this time of the year is warm enough to allow house plant collections to be taken outdoors for the summer.

If plants need repotting, Ohio State University Extension floriculturists say this is the time to do it. They recommend using a potting mixture of equal parts good garden loam, sphagnum peat moss and perlite.

If using commercially prepared soil mixes, avoid potting the plants too firmly. Be sure to use an adequate container. A handful of coarse gravel placed over the hole in the bottom will insure good drainage.

Most plants — such as cacti, geraniums and poinsettias — will perform their best in full sun or partial sun. But others such as fuchsias, everblooming begonias and broad-leaved tropicals must be set in locations protected from the sun after 10 or 11 a. m. to at least 3 to 4 p. m. These same plants need protection from strong winds to avoid breaking the stems or tearing the foliage.

ONLY a few plants, such as tuberous begonia, gloxinia and African violet, require all-day protection from the sun and wind.

Each plant should be given adequate space in the garden, protection from dogs, cats and youngsters' feet, and still be located where they can be given water.

Pots can be plunged into the soil by digging a hole slightly larger than the pot level with the soil to allow rain water to flow in. When the soil in the pots starts to dry out, water thoroughly. Also, give each pot a turn or two every two or three weeks to trim roots that grow through the drainage hole.

All-purpose garden dust or spray, used according to the manufacturer's directions will prevent insect and disease damage. Use a metaldehyde bait to control snails and slugs.

If planning to use fertilizers, apply at half the rate recommended by the manufacturer. And don't forget to bring the plants indoors early this fall — before early frosts get them.

Are you living clean in the outdoors?

During the summer months most of us spend several hours a day outside. Therefore, it is necessary to do a lot of cleaning on outdoor equipment and furnishings. Here are a few good tips for keeping the outdoors clean:

1. A dull, overcast day is best for washing windows and glass-top garden furniture. The reason is that sunshine dries the suds and rinse water so quickly that streaks may develop on the glass.

2. Fiber or grass rugs for porch or terrace, and the floors they cover, need regular care, so follow this routine: Use the carpet sweeper or broom on each rug daily. Vacuum the rugs and wash the floor borders at least once a week. Then, every two weeks or so during the dusty season, roll up the rugs and scrub the floors underneath with soap or detergent suds. If there is good drainage rinse with the garden hose; this method is especially good for tile and cement surfaces.

3. Before washing a concrete porch or steps, wet the porous surface with plain water. Then, when you scrub it with soap or detergent suds, the concrete won't absorb dirty water. Finish by rinsing with lots of clean water; a good hosing off is best.

4. Scrub your cement driveway and garage floor with a stiff broom dipped in hot soap or detergent suds, and repeat over oil-stained spots. Rinse with the hose.

5. A hammock can be scrubbed clean without ever coming off the tree or stand from which it is suspended. A brush, hot sudsy water, and lots of elbow grease will do the job. Be sure to wash both sides, then rinse with the hose and dry in a breeze.

6. The wood, canvas, plastic, and cord webbing on outdoor furniture can be kept clean by scrubbing briskly with hot soap or detergent suds. Always rinse well, and wipe off excess water.

7. Awnings are cool and pleasant, whether on windows or over the children's swing or sandbox. Keep fibers and colors fresh by suds-and-water scrubbing with a long-handled brush. The awnings can be rinsed by aiming the hose spray over and under them.

8. Aluminum and enameled metal awnings should be kept clean and shining bright. They are easy to wipe off, top and underneath, with a sudsy sponge followed by clean water.

9. Since porch, garden and patio lights have to weather the weather and battle the bugs, they need to be kept clean in order to maintain brilliant lighting. Disconnect cords, then wash shields with hot soap or detergent suds and wipe the bulbs with a sudsy sponge. For safety's sake, dry the bulbs before reconnecting the cords.

10. Terrycloth slipcovers for chaise, glider, and chair cushions should have elastic edging

Irrigation Now Popular With Ohio Truck Farmers

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Two exceptionally dry summers and an increased demand for fresh garden crops are important reasons why many Ohio truck farmers are turning to irrigation as a means of increasing garden crop production.

"This year we expect 25,000 acres to be under irrigation in Ohio," says Melville L. Palmer, Ohio State University Extension Water Management specialist. This is more than twice the 11,000 acres irrigated in 1950 and an increase of 5,000 over 1960.

"Sprinkler irrigation is the most popular method in Ohio," says Palmer, "because of irregular topography and variable soil types throughout most of the state." Sprinkler systems can be adapted to all types of terrain, whereas surface irrigation requires expensive land forming and more water.

Surface irrigation is used extensively in the western states. Research is now being carried out at Castalia by the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station to determine if it is practical and economical in this area.

According to Palmer, 80 per cent of the crops irrigated in Ohio are vegetables, potatoes, small fruits and nursery crops. Most of the irrigation is done around such highly populated metropolitan centers as Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron and Dayton where there is a large market for fresh garden products and nursery stock.

Most important in deciding whether to irrigate, says Palmer, is the availability of water and whether returns from the sale of the crop will pay the added cost of irrigation. It takes more than 50,000 gallons to irrigate one acre with two inches of water. Ponds, wells, or streams make good sources, providing they are large enough and reliable in dry weather.

A pond should have about 1 to 1.5 acre feet of water stored for each acre irrigated. Palmer says an 8 to 12-inch well is necessary for irrigation, compared to the 4 to 6-inch well for home use.

required at each irrigation. Sound engineering is essential to any irrigation system. Most companies will provide free estimates and supply tailor made layouts that will work best on specific farms.

"Knowing when and how much water to apply is the most difficult part of irrigation," Palmer says. Water should be applied when one-half of the capillary moisture (moisture available to crops) is depleted.

A rule of thumb that many farmers allow is to apply an inch of irrigation water per week during periods without rain.

Further information may be obtained from the County Extension office, soil conservation service technicians and suppliers of irrigation equipment.

Some other factors which Palmer suggests farmers consider when setting up an irrigation system are:

Soil should be capable of high production under good management. Light textured soils generally respond better to irrigation than heavy soils.

KKK Planning Long Summer For Northerners

CINCINNATI (AP) — The nights of the Ku Klux Klan are planning to have "a long hot summer in the North" this year as an answer to the civil rights drive in the South.

"We can make it even longer and hotter than the summer Martin Luther King promised to the people in the South," said Mrs. Eloise Witte, an organizer of the Klan's four-day rally in Warren County on Memorial Day weekend.

Mrs. Witte, who describes herself as Ohio empress of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of the KKK, said Grand Emperor William Hugh Morris, a Buchanan, Ga., contractor, will stay in the North most of the summer to supervise rallies and cross burnings.

The Klan burned two crosses in a field during last week's rally in northern Warren County. Mrs. Witte said the next cross burning in Ohio will be June 19 near Yellow Springs, home of Antioch College.

Antioch long has been noted as a center of liberalism and was denounced several times during the four-day rally.

"The rally was a fabulous success," said Mrs. Witte.

"We felt that if we got a hundred applications as a result of the rally, we would be doing very well. We got many times more than that... more than a thousand."

Grand Emperor Morris said after the first cross burning the night of May 29 that the crowd of 300 was smaller than expected. But he seemed pleased with the 750 or so people who showed up the night of May 31 when the second cross was burned in a field on Parkie Scott's farm. Several thousand people visited the farm during the rally. Many of them were curiosity seekers and college students who sometimes got into argument with Klan supporters.

There was no dramatic increase in the number of robed klansmen at the rally as the result of initiation ceremonies the Klan said were held May 30. Newsmen counted only a half-dozen or so men in robes. Morris said the initiations involved "between 200 and 500 persons" who had applied before the rally.

A governor of Ohio had to proclaim martial law 40 years ago in an effort to curb the Klan, but the hooded order has been largely quiet here since a brief revival during the 1930s. Even now, U. S. Rep. John Ashbrook of Ohio, top Republican on the House Un-American Activities Committee, says "the Klan in Ohio is not of a nature that it merits our investigation."

Morris and other speakers at the rally called on the white race to "wake up" and resist take-over by the Negroes. They fight against communism, which they described as a front for "international banking interests." Both the Bible and the American flag—along with the Confederate banner and the U. S. Constitution—were much in evidence throughout the rally and were referred to constantly.

"No trespassing" signs sprouted on the lawns of Scott's neighbors and people on the nearest farms apparently packed up and left for the weekend.

Mrs. Witte said the rally has resulted in inquiries from as far away as Philadelphia and, "We'll probably go there late this summer."

Klan chapters, she said, are being set up at Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Akron, Dayton and Indianapolis. Cincinnati is to have two chapters. Newsmen heard similar—and usually conflicting—statements during the rally.

Mrs. Witte would not say how large these chapters would be nor who would lead them. The local leaders, she said, will announce their own identities when and if they feel like it.

"After all," she said, "This is the invisible empire."

ALFALFA WEEVIL

Damage from the alfalfa weevil has been extremely severe in some areas. Fields that produced a good first cutting may look dead for a few days after harvest because newly emerged adult weevils can eat new growth rapidly.

These fields of new buds should be sprayed. In fields where new growth is observed and more than 20 per cent of the new terminals show feeding then treatment is necessary.

CUTWORMS

Damage is being caused on a statewide basis by the clay backed cutworm. Damage has been reported to both corn and tomatoes by this underground species.

The plant is entered below the ground and this insect bores up the stem, or bites off pieces of the plant and consumes it in the underground burrow. When plants are small there will be insect movement from plant to plant.

If it is not necessary to replant, use two pounds actual toxaphene per acre banded over the row. Reports have shown this to give good control.

If replanting is necessary, consider using 2-3 pounds of actual aldrin broadcast and disced in lightly.

ARMYWORMS

Since cutworms have been so severe, heavy populations of armyworms during early June can be expected.

Malathion only is approved on wheat; methoxychlor, sevin and malathion on legumes; and sevin for corn.

Dieldrin is also effective for use on corn and is legal. But there does remain the risk of contaminating the soil for further crop production.

2-Month Recess OK'd In Tax Evasion Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—The trial of Youngstown's three Deniro brothers — Michael, Frank Jr. and Louis—on charges of evading $111,020 in federal estate and inheritance taxes has been recessed for two months. U. S. Dist. Judge Frank J. Battisti gave the prosecution until July 26 to file briefs on a defense motion for acquittal on grounds the government failed to prove its case.

The defense offered no witnesses as the trial ended its second week Friday. The government tried to prove that after Vince Deniro, a rackets figure, was killed in an automobile bombing in 1961, his brothers falsified records to conceal his taxable assets.

Clerk, 31, Convicted In Embezzlement Case

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A common pleas court jury has convicted Phyllis Mooney, 31, of Shadyside of embezzling $2,000 while a deputy clerk in the office of Belmont County Judge George Sherry of Belaire.

She remained free on bond after Friday's verdict pending a probation investigation. Nine similar indictments are pending against her.

Recreational Uses of Land Can Be Source of Income

Many statements are heard and much is being written today of plans for recreational development on public owned lands.

Donald Archer, work unit conservationist for the Pickaway Soil Conservation District, said many private landowners are considering recreational developments for income on their properties.

An outstanding example of this in Pickaway County is the Upper Lansdowne Golf Links, a farm converted into a golf course by Don Collins of Walnut Twp.

The local SCS work unit assisted Collins in his adventure by designing two ponds which provide water for irrigating the course. The impoundments supplement a well.

LANDOWNERS who are contemplating the development of recreation plans and expenditures for construction should become informed about other recreational areas, both private and public, now in operation or in the planning stages, Archer said.

This information is important for the private landowner to know so that he will not venture into recreation development that may compete directly with others in operation, or those in advanced planning stages.

Sources of information of this nature may be obtained from a number of county offices, such as the Soil Conservation Service, County Extension agent, U. S. Forest Service and the Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

For those private landowners who are interested in developing income-producing recreational enterprises on their land, Archer said, the Soil Conservation Service can provide the following assistance through the Pickaway Soil and Water Conservation Districts:

Feasible alternatives for recreation enterprises; Information on soils and their suitability for vegetation, roads and trails, septic tank filter fields and dams to impound water;

Appraisal of physical suitability of sites for cottages, lodges, scenic views, roads and trails, camping and picnic areas, winter sports, ponds, small lakes, nature study areas, wildlife habitat, parking areas, playgrounds and hunting preserves;

Information on plants and their suitability for nature study, protective cover for fields, playgrounds, roadsides, dams, spoil banks, borrow areas, slope cuts, streambanks and wildlife food and cover areas; Development and improvement of farm woodlands for wildlife, hiking and camping;

Standard construction plans for recreation facilities such as cabins, picnic tables, boat docks, restrooms, parking lots, etc.

Archer said during fiscal year 1964 the Soil Conservation Service in Ohio assisted 89 landowners, through Soil and Water Conservation Districts, to establish one or more income-producing recreation enterprises.

The SCS also assisted 40 landowners, through Districts, to change from livestock, dairy and field crops to recreation enterprises as a primary source of income.

KKK Planning Long Summer For Northerners

CINCINNATI (AP) — The nights of the Ku Klux Klan are planning to have "a long hot summer in the North" this year as an answer to the civil rights drive in the South.

"We can make it even longer and hotter than the summer Martin Luther King promised to the people in the South," said Mrs. Eloise Witte, an organizer of the Klan's four-day rally in Warren County on Memorial Day weekend.

Mrs. Witte, who describes herself as Ohio empress of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Knights of the K.K.K., said Grand Emperor William Hugh Morris, a Buchanan, Ga., contractor, will stay in the North most of the summer to supervise rallies and cross burnings.

The Klan burned two crosses in a field during last week's rally in northern Warren County. Mrs. Witte said the next cross burning in Ohio will be June 19 near Yellow Springs, home of Antioch College.

Antioch long has been noted as a center of liberalism and was denounced several times during the four-day rally.

"The rally was a fabulous success," said Mrs. Witte. "We felt that if we got a hundred applications as a result of the rally, we would be doing very well. We got many times more than that... more than a thousand."

Grand Emperor Morris said after the first cross burning the night of May 29 that the crowd of 300 was smaller than expected. But he seemed pleased with the 750 or so people who showed up the night of May 31 when the second cross was burned in a field on Parkie Scott's farm.

Colleges Have Openings

Along about this time every year the scramble between students who expect to go to college in the next term and colleges which still have openings begins in earnest. When it is ended in September, some colleges will find quotas unfilled and some would-be college students will start looking for jobs because they cannot find a spot on campus.

At the height of the annual placement frenzy can be heard cries that colleges haven't grown fast enough to accommodate all who want to further their education and are able to do so. Yet every year hundreds of freshman slots remain unfilled. What about the fall term of the 1965-66 year?

Again, warnings can be heard that a severe classroom shortage exists — a shortage made critical by the fact the boom in post-World War II babies is just beginning to sweep into college. It is true, of course, that enrollments will set new records this fall, as they have each year in recent history. This is, after all, an education conscious age.

But will a significant number of qualified youths be turned away from overflowing enrollment offices this year. Not according to a survey made by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The survey of 300 accredited institutions located in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia produced 100 which acknowledged they still have openings for the fall term.

These colleges and universities have more openings for transfer students than freshman, and the survey did not take into account entrance qualifications, but the large number of openings in some schools (500 at Hofstra University, 175 at Adelphi University and 500 at Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn) as compared to only 20 at Princeton and none at many other "big name" schools indicates the disparity which exists between the large schools and the smaller ones.

Many students who had their hearts set on ivy league schools — for reasons which even they cannot define — will be compelled to settle for their second or third choices. But it is a strange fact of academic life that most students who matriculate to a school which was not their first choice make no attempt to transfer after their freshman year, though placement at almost any school is easier on a transfer basis.

Public's Information

As government grows larger, involving more and more employees, the tendency increases for them to label more and more things "secret."

This is a convenient way to avoid embarrassing or merely time-consuming discussions of subjects that are complicated, controversial, or otherwise calculated to put the government worker to some trouble. Declare it classified and it can be forgotten.

But if any kind of information is withheld from the electorate, its decisions at the polls are likely to be faulty. And if enough information is blacked out over a long enough period of time, the most probable result will be a totalitarian bureaucracy.

The national security demands that certain military and diplomatic matters must not be common knowledge. But everything else about the government must be known to the public if it is to govern wisely through its votes.

Government secrecy has for many years exceeded proper bounds. There have been frequent disclosures in Washington of material having absolutely no connection with the national security having been classified secret, apparently for no reason than the convenience of the employee who so classified it.

A bill has been introduced in Congress which would require federal agencies to open most of their records to public inspection, and authorizing court action to force disclosure of information withheld wrongly.

The bill provides safeguards against disclosure of matter required to be secret in the interests of security. It also protects personnel files, investigatory files, trade secrets and tax returns.

It is a good bill. It is in the interest of every taxpayer and voter that it be passed. Those who are interested in retaining their right of informed control over their government should let their senators and congressmen know that they are in favor of the freedom of information bill.

The Business World

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Business health continues apparently unshaken by disputes over monetary policies or government guidelines for the behavior of industry and labor unions.

Judged by the latest flow of statistics, business confidence seems little affected even by nervous twitches in the stock market over international trouble spots or comparisons of today's prosperity with the 1929 boom and bust.

Key industries report sales still strong, some records being set in production, and a steady flow of new orders that promise busy months ahead.

Autos and steel, the two segments where an early summer letdown has been most feared, have entered June at record, or near-record, speed.

Steel output has climbed for two straight weeks. The latest weekly tonnage is 2,727,000, just 79,000 tons below the record poured in the week ended April 24. The drop from that record in the first three weeks of May appears to have been due as much to repair work at overstrained mills as to any easing of demand.

Most mills report orders on the books will keep them going near top speed through June and July. Any inclination of steel users to live off built-up inventories may have been postponed till after the strike deadline of Sept. 1, or until a wage pact settlement is reached.

Auto production has set a monthly record for six straight months. The spurt of sales and output in the opening months of the year at the time had been thought due largely to shortages caused by last fall's strikes.

But figures for May show that Americans are still buying cars at a great rate, setting a record for that month.

Assemblies in May rose to 837,168 cars, or 15 per cent higher than the previous record for May, set last year. The first five months of 1965 saw 4,259,628 cars produced, compared with 3,654,697 in the like period of 1964.

Auto industry confidence rides high. June assemblies are expected to rise to 902,000 cars, or 16 per cent more than a year earlier. This would make the second quarter output of around 2,600,000 cars higher even than the first quarter which many had forecast would be the high for 1965 model production.

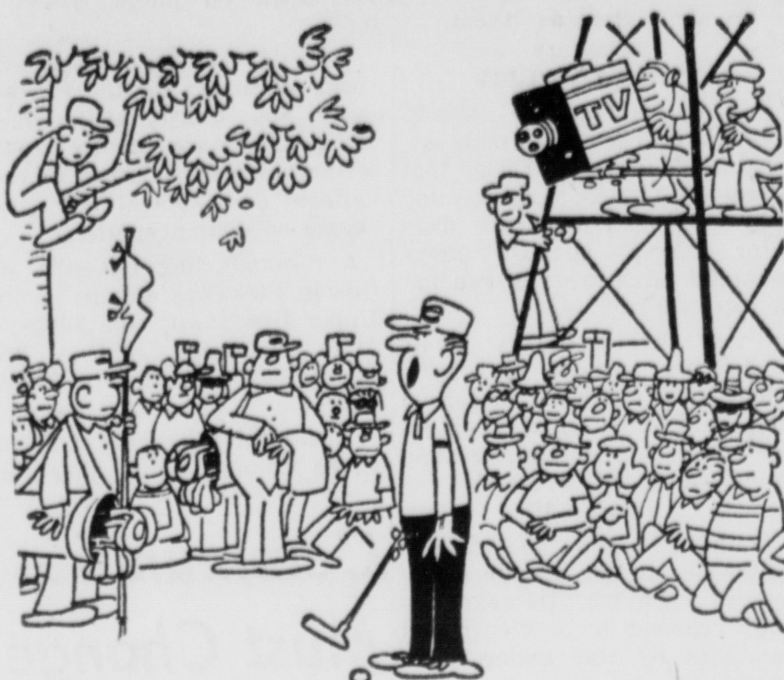

The fast pace continues in many other industries.

New orders for all U.S. factories rose to a record in April of $41.2 billion, up a half-billion from the previous record set in March.

Business puts special emphasis on new orders because they indicate activity in the weeks and months ahead, as distinguished from production figures which show how business is doing now, or has been doing in past weeks.

Order backlogs on factory books have been pushed close to $59 billion by the upsurge in new orders.

What can one buy for a newborn infant who already has everything?

A solid gold stethoscope may be the ideal gift because of an unusual discovery.

Newborn and young infants were found to cry less, gain more weight and sleep better when they heard a tape recording of the normal rhythmic beat of the human heart.

Dr. Lee Salk of New York City subjected more than 100 infants to the recorded sounds of a heart beating at the normal regular rate of 72 times a minute. The tranquilizing effect of the beat was apparent in all the studies.

When the beat was irregular or too fast "there was a noticeable increase in the crying and restlessness" of the child. When a ticking device, like a metronome, was substituted for the heart beat recording the infants took a longer time to go to sleep.

Dr. Salk does not feel, however, that automation, with the child listening to his own heart beat through his gold encrusted stethoscope, will replace the security of the mother's comforting arms.

A RICE PADDY IN VIETNAM (AP) — It is said that in wartime there is no higher glory or greater reward than being commander of a company of troops.

For a company is large enough to be important in battle but a kingdom small enough for the commander to know all his men personally.

That is the way Capt. Pat Collins, leader of recon Company D of the 3rd U.S. Marines, feels about his post.

He wouldn't trade it right now for any other job on earth.

He talked of it as he lay stretched out under a tent in a dried up rice paddy, loud with insect song.

The heat came down in an endless hammer of glare. Red and gold butterflies shimmered and skittered past and it was hard to think the enemy was only a couple of hills away.

Cheving on a stem of grass, Pat remarked:

"Once you put the average Marine out in the field his overall outlook on life generally improves. He has a sense of achievement. He feels he is doing what he ought to be doing."

"You don't join the Marines if you are looking for a soft, cushy life."

Pat has put in 13 years. After serving as a corporal in Korea, he quit to get a degree in industrial management from Bowling Green (Ohio) State University.

But he returned to the corps in 1958. Since then he has attended nine Marine, Army and Navy schools. He has won two medals for bravery, served in Cuba, made 100 parachute jumps and qualified as a demolition expert.

Colleges Have Openings

Along about this time every year the scramble between students who expect to go to college in the next term and colleges which still have openings begins in earnest. When it is ended in September, some colleges will find quotas unfilled and some would-be college students will start looking for jobs because they cannot find a spot on campus.

At the height of the annual placement frenzy can be heard cries that colleges haven't grown fast enough to accommodate all who want to further their education and are able to do so. Yet every year hundreds of freshman slots remain unfilled. What about the fall term of the 1965-66 year?

Again, warnings can be heard that a severe classroom shortage exists — a shortage made critical by the fact the boom in post-World War II babies is just beginning to sweep into college. It is true, of course, that enrollments will set new records this fall, as they have each year in recent history. This is, after all, an education conscious age.

But will a significant number of qualified youths be turned away from overflowing enrollment offices this year. Not according to a survey made by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The survey of 300 accredited institutions located in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and the District of Columbia produced 100 which acknowledged they still have openings for the fall term.

These colleges and universities have more openings for transfer students than freshman, and the survey did not take into account entrance qualifications, but the large number of openings in some schools (500 at Hofstra University, 175 at Adelphi University and 500 at Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn) as compared to only 20 at Princeton and none at many other "big name" schools indicates the disparity which exists between the large schools and the smaller ones.

Many students who had their hearts set on ivy league schools — for reasons which even they cannot define — will be compelled to settle for their second or third choices. But it is a strange fact of academic life that most students who matriculate to a school which was not their first choice make no attempt to transfer after their freshman year, though placement at almost any school is easier on a transfer basis.

Public's Information

As government grows larger, involving more and more employees, the tendency increases for them to label more and more things "secret."

This is a convenient way to avoid embarrassing or merely time-consuming discussions of subjects that are complicated, controversial, or otherwise calculated to put the government worker to some trouble. Declare it classified and it can be forgotten.

But if any kind of information is withheld from the electorate, its decisions at the polls are likely to be faulty. And if enough information is blacked out over a long enough period of time, the most probable result will be a totalitarian bureaucracy.

The national security demands that certain military and diplomatic matters must not be common knowledge. But everything else about the government must be known to the public if it is to govern wisely through its votes.

Government secrecy has for many years exceeded proper bounds. There have been frequent disclosures in Washington of material having absolutely no connection with the national security having been classified secret, apparently for no reason than the convenience of the employee who so classified it.

A bill has been introduced in Congress which would require federal agencies to open most of their records to public inspection, and authorizing court action to force disclosure of information withheld wrongly.

The bill provides safeguards against disclosure of matter required to be secret in the interests of security. It also protects personnel files, investigatory files, trade secrets and tax returns.

It is a good bill. It is in the interest of every taxpayer and voter that it be passed. Those who are interested in retaining their right of informed control over their government should let their senators and congressmen know that they are in favor of the freedom of information bill.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Business health continues apparently unshaken by disputes over monetary policies or government guidelines for the behavior of industry and labor unions.

Judged by the latest flow of statistics, business confidence seems little affected even by nervous twitches in the stock market over international trou-

Cystinuria is a strange, chronic disease in which there occurs frequent deposits of kidney stones.

A chemical, penicillamine, was being used effectively to combat a body deficiency of copper by Dr. Francis X. Fellers and Dr. William MacDonal at the Children's Hospital in Boston.

In their studies, they also found that they were able to prevent the formation of kidney stones in patients suffering from the congenital disease of cystinuria.

It is hoped that this research will open avenues for the understanding of all the other causes of kidney stone formations.

Anatomy of Battle Is Outlined As Viet Cong Regiment Is Beaten

EDITOR'S NOTE — A reinforced Viet Cong regiment last weekend staged the largest Red offensive in South Viet Nam's 1st Corps area since the French-Indochinese war. Thanks to U.S. air power and fighting Vietnamese units, the Communists failed in their drive to cut through to the sea. Government troops suffered high casualties but still held the field. AP Correspondent John T. Wheeler was there. Here is his report.

By JOHN T. WHEELER

BA GIA, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese troops joked casually among themselves as they set out last Saturday for a road security patrol toward the town of Quang Ngai six miles away. An hour later most of them were dead in the opening battle for Quang Ngai, one of the bloodiest of the Vietnamese war.

Nearly 200 government troops were killed and more than 200 were wounded. Many were still missing days after the battle. The Viet Cong suffered about 600 casualties by American count.

The carefree company of the 51st Regiment's 1st Battalion was swinging down the road when a hail of fire broke across it. At the same time a second company of the same battalion was hit at a security post farther down the road.

Lead elements of a Viet Cong reinforced regiment had struck. The outnumbered government troops sent a desperate call to the Ba Gia outpost for help. A third company was dispatched quickly. It also was ground up in fire from carefully prepared ambush sites.

Three Americans with the battalion managed to slip into a cane field. They reached safety one day later.

The final Vietnamese company that started to the rescue also was hit by the Viet Cong and retreated to Ba Gia. They withstood nine attacks in the next few hours.

In Quang Ngai, capital of Quang Ngai Province, frantic radio calls sent government and American officers into action. They knew that an expected Viet Cong push was under way. One battalion was already wiped out.

The 39th Rangers, the 3rd

Vietnamese Marine Battalion and the 2nd Battalion of the 51st Regiment launched a counter-offensive Sunday.

As troops pushed from Quang Ngai toward Ba Gia, heavy rain clouds hung overhead, preventing U.S. jets and Vietnamese Skyraiders from giving fully effective air cover.

Late in the afternoon the Viet Cong hit, surrounding the marines and rangers. A U.S. adviser, Capt. Christopher J. O'Sullivan, 28, of Astoria, N.Y., was killed in the opening volley.

The fighting raged all Sunday night. The rangers were cut into three segments by repeated attacks. A second American, Marine Sgt. Willie D. Tryone, 33, of Abilene, Tex., was hit, but continued to fight.

In four assaults the main ranger group, including the U.S. Marine, captured a hill three miles east of Ba Gia. There they dug in.

Powerful Viet Cong units attacked the hill and overwhelmed the rangers.

Tryone was dead. In his final radio call to headquarters in Quang Ngai he reported: "Our position is being overrun."

Minutes later the guns fell silent.

Vietnamese marines who survived the attack sat in a ditch, tending some 60 wounded.

On their flank, 80 rangers remained alive.

American jets, despite dangerously low clouds, smashed at the Viet Cong. They probably were the key factor in blunting the Communist attack. At least the air raids gave government forces time to regroup and reinforce. And by that time the Viet Cong offensive was through and Communist troops began pulling away.

Many of the slain rangers appeared to have been killed in cold blood after being wounded, a practice followed at times by both sides.

Captured documents showed the Viet Cong planned to take Quang Ngai town after smashing as many government battalions as possible. They never reached the town.

Both Vietnamese and American senior officers believe that, since government troops outnumber the Viet Cong by a substantial margin, the enemy was hurt far more than the government by the Ba Gia casualties.

It's Cheaper To Buy A Red Than Kill Him

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The Saigon government is finding out it's cheaper to buy a Viet Cong than to kill one. So is Uncle Sam.

With the firm backing of the United States, a determined effort is under way here to switch Viet Cong defectors to a new life.

It is still too early to assess the success of the program — known as the Open Arms project. But reliable sources say perhaps 18,000 Communists have been welcomed back with "open arms" by the government since late 1963.

This year about $1.5 million has been budgeted to carry out the program — almost as much as is spent each day for the way effort.

"The aim of our Open Arms program is not only to get returnees, but to prepare right now a way out for the people under the North Viet Nam Communist regime," explains Tran Van An, the Open Arms minister.

"They are looking forward to the free world for their rescue and escape," he adds. "We have the duty to open our arms to admit them and give to the patriotic an opportunity to join our young revolution."

U.S. sources acknowledge that a large gap exists between the ideal and what has been accomplished. For instance, of 44 Open Arms centers planned — one for each of the provinces — more than a third are either inadequately staffed or still under construction.

The instability of the government, the war in the provinces and a less than enthusiastic attitude toward the project by the military has slowed progress.

"The only good Viet Cong is a dead Viet Cong," some military leaders say quite frankly.

At odds with this view, the government is pushing ahead its program in the belief that pacification and open arms are one, that fighting alone is not enough to win the Vietnamese conflict.

The showpiece of the program is the Chieu Hoi center in Saigon's neighboring Chinese sister city of Cholon. At this center the "elite" of the Viet Cong defectors undergo a one-month indoctrination course and then pledge to become good citizens upon returning to their villages.

The director of the school, Le Quang Dien, is a former Viet Minh officer who served the Communist cause for nine years before switching sides.

All trainees go through what school officials call a thorough screening, including fingerprinting, before they are admitted. This is to weed out Viet Cong considered to have criminal backgrounds, as well as a precaution against avowed Communists who might try to infiltrate the center as spies.

Motor Vehicle Sales Here Reach 196

New motor vehicle sales for May in Pickaway County totaled 196, according to Sara M. Dresbach, clerk of courts.

The title department noted that 585 liens were filed during the month and 484 were cancelled. A total of 1,312 titles were issued for both new and used vehicles.

The local new car market listed Ford with 31 passenger cars sales, four station wagons and 17 trucks. Chevrolet, accounted for the sale of 37 cars, six trucks, two station wagons and two buses.

Pontiac sales showed 14 passenger cars. Oldsmobile and Buick had 12 and 10 sales respectively.

Other totals for May included Plymouth 7, Rambler 3; Volkswagen 6; Dodge 5; Mercury 4; Cadillac 2; Imperial 1; Renault 1; GMC truck 1; International trucks 2; motorcycles 2; house-trailers 14; camping trailer 1; travel trailers 2; semi-trailer 1.

Liman Pleads Innocent In Shooting Spree

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—John Henry Oliphant, 24, of Lima, former mental patient accused of shooting his wife, two policemen and a cabbie, pleaded innocent Friday in Municipal Court. Judge Roeger Andrews ordered a preliminary hearing within 10 days.

Oliphant is charged with four counts of shooting with intent to kill. Police say he shot his wife, Louella, 21, after she called a taxi during a family quarrel, and then wounded the cabbie and the policemen when they arrived on the scene.

'Salute to Bliss' Dinners Slated To Mark GOP's Come-Back Drive

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Republicans in the home state of Ray C. Bliss, new national chairman, turn out in force Wednesday to boost his national drive for a party come-back.

Top GOP figures will address "Salute to Bliss" dinners in eight Ohio cities linked together in an hour-long statewide telecast.

A dozen television stations will broadcast the program from 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. EST, featuring eight principles for which the party stands to a potential 10 million viewers.

Arrangements have been made for 12,000 to attend the $100-a-plate dinners in Columbus, Cleveland, Toledo, Youngstown, Canton, Lima, Dayton and Cincinnati.

Proceeds, possibly a million dollars, will be split among national, state and county GOP organizations to beef up the drive and prepare for the Ohio election of state officials and congressmen next year.

National speakers include former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Govs. Geo. Romney of Michigan and William Scranton of Pennsylvania, Sens. Thurston Morton of Kentucky and George Murphy of California, majority floor leader Gerald Ford of Michigan, Chicago industrialist Charles Percy and actor Ronald Reagan of California.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and state chairman John S. Andrews of Toledo, Bliss' successor, also will be featured at the dinners sponsored by the state GOP Finance Committee, headed by H. Richard P. Niehoff, Columbus. Uninvited participants will be Ohio Committee for Civil Rights pickets in all eight cities, according to Russell M. Jones of Columbus, executive director of the committee.

"We are taking this means to register our dissatisfaction with Gov. Rhodes and the Republican leadership in the Ohio Senate for not having moved SB 189 (for fair housing) out of the program and then view the remainder from the other cities on a closed circuit. Stations in Columbus, Cincinnati, Dayton, Akron, Cleveland, Lima, Steubenville, Toledo, Youngstown, Zanesville, Huntington, W. Va., and Parkersburg, W. Va., will broadcast the program live to viewers in Ohio, and portions of West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan.

"We have put together a program of tremendous interest, outlining eight principles for which the Republican Party stands," Andrews announced.

Niehoff said half the net proceeds will be divided among "grass roots" county GOP committees with the balance split between the state and national committees.

In addition to those who lay out $100 or more for a ticket, party workers in small counties who raise at least $100 for the cause will be dinner guests, it was explained.

Tomato juice, the proposed state drink, will top menus followed in most cities by steak or roast beef, vegetables, a salad and dessert.

Major speakers will have five minutes each. Rhodes will open the program from the Neil House in Columbus with an address of welcome and introduce Eisenhower at the Sheraton-Cleveland Hotel in Cleveland. Eisenhower will pay tribute to from Cleveland, Bliss will give a response and introduce Andrews, his successor, in Toledo. Andrews, from Toledo's Commodore Perry Hotel, will set the stage for discussion of the eight fundamental issues. Scranton, from Toledo, will give the initial issue talk on "human welfare" and then introduce Romney.

Back in Cleveland, Romney will dwell on the second issue, "equal rights," and introduce Murphy, the featured speaker at Dayton in Wampler's arena.

Murphy's subject is "limited government". He will introduce Percy, board chairman of Bell and Howell Corp., the speaker at the Allen County Fairgrounds Lima. Percy will talk on "job opportunities."

Introduced by Percy, Ford of Grand Rapids, Mich., will discuss "fiscal responsibility" at the Canton dinner at Meyers Lake.

Ford then will present Motor, who will talk on "education" from Idora Park, Youngstown.

Appalachia Watershed Projects Are Pushed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The U. S. Soil Conservation Service says supplemental funds have been received for planning work on four watershed projects in Ohio's 28-county Appalachian area.

Raymond S. Brown, state conservationist, said a planning party will be assigned to study applications for the Pine Creek watershed in Scioto, Lawrence and Jackson County; East Fork of Duck Creek watershed in Washington, Noble and Monroe counties; Beaverdam Creek watershed, Tuscarawas County, and Short Creek watershed in Jefferson and Harrison counties.

The National Park Service, after a decade of research through four million documents, letters and illustrations, is restoring Independence Hall and 25 historic buildings in more than six city blocks. The project could take 20 years.

County Loan, Support Rate Set for 1965 Wheat Here

The price-support loan and purchase rate for 1965-crop wheat in Pickaway County will be $1.26 per bushel, according to Galen D. Mowery, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee.

Information on price-support rates for wheat stored in terminals, as well as schedules of premiums and discounts, is available at the ASCS County office.

As in the past, terminal price-support rates are derived by adding rail freight and handling charges necessary to get the wheat from the producing area to the terminal markets—the county loan rate, minus rail freight rates.

County and terminal loan rates are subject to further adjustment for premium and discounts in determining individual producer loans, depending on the grade and quality of the producer's wheat collateral.

Chairman Mowery explained that this support will be available to all growers who stay within their farm's 1965 wheat allotment and carry out other provisions of the 1965 wheat program. By signing up and participating in the program, they qualify for price-support loans and purchases and for marketing certificates. Diversion payments will also be available to such participants if they reduce their wheat acreage to conserving uses.

The marketing certificates are worth 75 cents a bushel for the domestic portion of the farm's wheat crop — based on 45 per cent of the normal production of the wheat acreage — and 30 cents a bushel on the export portion — based on 35 per cent of the normal production from the wheat acreage.

Mowery pointed out that three general changes are made in the price-support rate schedules for 1965-crop wheat. They deal with terminal rate adjustments, discontinuance of the sedimentation value tests and a readjustment of other premium and discount schedules.

Collegians Hail Computer For Pre-Selecting Dates

NEW YORK (AP)—The party raid is replaced by the sit-in, and telephone booth stuffing by protest marches. But those old-fashioned pastimes, dating and dancing, sometimes still exert a quaint appeal for the nation's college students.

On some campuses, though, the lads don't consider lining up their own girls for a dance. They are men enough to face up to the responsibilities of life in an electronic age. They let a computer do it.

This omniscient machine matches couples who have filled out cards with questions intent to check general interests, attitudes, personal data.

Sometimes the answers mesh so well that brother and sister are paired, a triumph perhaps for automation.

Sometimes, too, things go slightly awry. Tiny girls are teamed with towering basketball players and, worse, smaller men with the more Junesque coeds.

About the Michigan State University computer dance

Bill Bremer, president of Students Offer Campus Organization, reports:

"The girls all lied—and added two or three inches. They all wanted dates with tall guys. I'm 6 foot 3 and my date was 5 foot 2. She got a tall guy—and a sore neck to boot."

At the College of San Mateo in California the computer dance was sponsored by the school's Psychology Club. A local bank lent the computer and 40 questions were fed into it.

These included: Race preference, father's occupation, how many dates in high school, interests in art, music, literature, athletics and travel, if read daily newspaper and editorial page, how many movies attended on average.

From this 350 couples were matched, and several of them are still dating.

Ohio State University's affair, sponsored by the campus YMCA, attracted about 1,600 dancers. Questionnaires were filled out when students bought mixer tickets and questions dealt with age, height, dancing ability, likes and dislikes in dates.

Evansville College in Indiana matched 100 couples by computer and the subsequent mixer brought this comment from Louise Land, director of the Student Union:

"I don't know how lasting any of the matches will be, but the dance was a success. I certainly recommend computer dances for a mixer."

Anatomy of Battle Is Outlined As Viet Cong Regiment Is Beaten

EDITOR'S NOTE — A reinforced Viet Cong regiment last weekend staged the largest Red offensive in South Viet Nam's 1st Corps area since the French-Indochinese war. Thanks to U.S. air power and fighting Vietnamese units, the Communists failed in their drive to cut through to the sea. Government troops suffered high casualties but still held the field. AP Correspondent John T. Wheeler was there. Here is his report.

By JOHN T. WHEELER

BA GIA, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Vietnamese troops joked casually among themselves as they set out last Saturday for a road security patrol toward the town of Quang Ngai six miles away. An hour later most of them were dead in the opening battle for Quang Ngai, one of the bloodiest of the Vietnamese war.

Nearly 200 government troops were killed and more than 200 were wounded. Many were still missing days after the battle. The Viet Cong suffered about 600 casualties by American 51st Regiment's 1st Battalion was swinging down the road when a hail of fire broke across it. At the same time a second company of the same battalion was hit at a security post farther down the road.

Lead elements of a Viet Cong reinforced regiment had struck. The outnumbered government troops sent a desperate call to the Ba Gia outpost for help. A third company was dispatched quickly. It also was ground up in fire from carefully prepared ambush sites.

Three Americans with the battalion managed to slip into a cane field. They reached safety one day later.

The final Vietnamese company that started to the rescue also was hit by the Viet Cong and retreated to Ba Gia. They withstood nine attacks in the next few hours.

In Quang Ngai, capital of Quang Ngai Province, frantic radio calls sent government and American officers into action. They knew that an expected Viet Cong push was under way. One battalion was already wiped out.

The carefree company of the Vietnamese Marine Battalion and the 2nd Battalion of the 51st Regiment launched a counter-offensive Sunday.

As troops pushed from Quang Ngai toward Ba Gia, heavy rain clouds hung overhead, preventing U.S. jets and Vietnamese Skyraiders from giving fully effective air cover.

Late in the afternoon the Viet Cong hit, surrounding the marines and rangers. A U.S. adviser, Capt. Christopher J. O'Sullivan, 28, of Astoria, N.Y., was killed in the opening volley.

The fighting raged all Sunday night. The rangers were cut into three segments by repeated attacks. A second American, Marine Sgt. Willie D. Tryone, 33, of Abilene, Tex., was hit, but continued to fight.

In four assaults the main ranger group, including the U.S. Marine, captured a hill three miles east of Ba Gia. There they dug in.

Powerful Viet Cong units attacked the hill and overcame the rangers.

Tyone was dead. In his final radio call to headquarters in Quang Ngai he reported: "Our position is being overrun."

Minutes later the guns fell silent.

Vietnamese marines who survived the attack sat in a ditch, tending some 60 wounded.

On their flank, 80 rangers remained alive.

American jets, despite dangerously low clouds, smashed at the Viet Cong. They probably were the key factor in blunting the Communist attack. At least the air raids gave government forces time to regroup and reinforce. And by that time the Viet Cong offensive was through and Communist troops began pulling away.

Many of the slain rangers appeared to have been killed in cold blood after being wounded, a practice followed at times by both sides.

Captured documents showed the Viet Cong planned to take Quang Ngai town after smashing as many government battalions as possible. They never reached the town.

Both Vietnamese and American senior officers believe that, since government troops outnumber the Viet Cong by a substantial margin, the enemy was hurt far more than the government by the Ba Gia casualties.

It's Cheaper To Buy A Red Than Kill Him

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The Saigon government is finding out it's cheaper to buy a Viet Cong than to kill one. So is Uncle Sam.

With the firm backing of the United States, a determined effort is under way here to switch Viet Cong defectors to a new life.

It is still too early to assess the success of the program — known as the Open Arms project. But reliable sources say perhaps 18,000 Communists have been welcomed back with "open arms" by the government since late 1963.

This year about $1.3 million has been budgeted to carry out the program — almost as much as is spent each day for the way effort.

"The aim of our Open Arms program is not only to get returnees, but to prepare right now a way out for the people under the North Viet Nam Communist regime," explains Tran Van An, the Open Arms minister.

"They are looking forward to the free world for their rescue and escape," he adds. "We have the duty to open our arms to admit them and give to the patriotic an opportunity to join our young revolution."

Dear Abby:

Abby Tells on Abby

DEAR ABBY: I sure get a kick out of your column. I don't suppose you really write all of it yourself. You probably have a staff of writers. And that picture of you is a lulu! How old is it? I'll bet you're really a fat old maid taking out her frustrations by telling other people how to run their lives. You get a letter with just one side of the story and you hand out advice like you knew all the answers. I'm a 31-year-old bachelor. And if that's your picture, and it's not 20 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. (How would you like to live in Salt Lake City?)

DEAR MISS S.: If your nose has never bothered you and you have never considered getting it "fixed," tell the young man that your nose goes where you go. And if he doesn't want you, nose and all, heaven knows he is not for you.

DEAR ABBY: Can you answer a few very simple questions for me? I am the mother of four children and this is very important to me. What is the correct definition of "common-law marriage"? Where is it recognized? What does "community property" mean? Is that the same all over? Exactly what is the legal definition of "bigamy"? And finally, what does "extradite" mean? I thank you.

DEAR ABBY: I don't have any writers, so I'll take all the credit for what is printed here. (And all the blame, too.) I do not give advice, I express an opinion. To give advice one must know both sides, but I do the best I can with the facts I have, and if I am able to help, I'm happy. The picture is mine, and it's comparatively recent. Salt Lake City would be fine with me, but I'm 15 years older than you, and very much married, so I won't hold you to your offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and just had the most bewildering proposal of marriage. He's a young man I've known a long time, but I never dreamed he was thinking of me as "wife material." He said he would marry me if I got my nose fixed. Now, I do have a big nose, but I accepted it as part of me, and it goes with my face, so I never considered getting it fixed. Frankly, I do not think it would make that much difference. It's not as though my nose stands between me and my being a perfect beauty. This young man would make a good husband, but I wonder if I should take his proposal under consideration.

MISS S.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell, "Poor Dad," whose college freshman son borrows his neckties, to count his blessings. When sonny gets to his second year, he'll probably do his best to sever those "family ties" you advised him to strengthen. My son now a sophomore, wears a beard, seldom gets a haircut, dresses in jeans, sweaters and boots. And as a point of honor—NEVER wears a tie. The day he borrows his Dad's ties will be the day we'll all sigh, "Thank heavens he's back to normal!"

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Saturday, June 5, the 156th day of 1965. There are 209 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt signed the act repealing the gold clause in government financial obligations. The action relieved the government of complying with its pledge to redeem the obligations in actual gold coin.

On this date
In 1752, Benjamin Franklin launched a kite with a wire on its end and an iron key on the string which he held to prove that lightning and the thing called electricity were the same.

In 1863, French troops entered Mexico City.

In 1917, more than 10½ million registered for the Selective Service draft of World War I.

In 1947, Secretary of State George Marshall disclosed what was to become the Marshall Plan in a speech at Harvard University.

Ten years ago — The United States reported that almost $1½ billion was used in two years by the U.N. and the U.S. Far East commands to rebuild and arm South Korea.

Five years ago — In a speech at Greencastle, Ind., Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker called for a Western summit meeting to examine deteriorating relationships with the Soviet Union.

One year ago — French President Charles de Gaulle and U.S. Undersecretary George Ball conferred in Paris on South Vietnam; they agreed on goals but not methods.

Mrs. DeLong Hostess for DUV Meeting

Mrs. Clara DeLong was hostess when members of the Catherine Wolffy Hedges Tent No. 101, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met.

Mrs. Ruth Wignel, president, presided and the meeting opened in ritualistic form. Business reports were presented. Communications were read from national and state headquarters by Mrs. Wignel and Mrs. Bessie Pierce. Memorial services for deceased members were conducted by the president.

The program consisted of a reading by Mrs. Wignel, "Discovery in the Desert" pertaining to Bible history. Mrs. Pierce read, "What If There Were No Tomorrows" written by the department chaplain of the VFW. Mrs. Polly Kerns, patriotic instructor, led the group in the pledge of allegiance to the flag and all repeated, "Faith of Our Fathers."

Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Myrtle Trimmer.

Dinner Meeting Conducted by Pythian Sisters

Friendship Night was observed Thursday evening when Majors Temple No. 516, Pythian Sisters, met in the K of P Hall. Miss Katherine L. Mead, most excellent chief, presided for the business meeting.

Members of Cypress Temple No. 484 were guests. Twenty six members and 11 guests responded to roll call. Members of Cypress Temple received a gift from the most excellent chief.

A thank you note from Mrs. Orren Stout and an invitation from Adelphi Temple No. 563 to attend their inspection 8 p.m. June 15 were read.

A carry-in dinner was enjoyed with Mrs. Hazel Peters, Mrs. Lucille Bostwick and Mrs. Dorothy Winell in charge of the dining room.

The program committee for the evening included Mrs. Carolyn Young, Mrs. Sandra Walker, Mrs. Garnet Reichelderfer and Mrs. Eva Lee Graef. Games were played and prizes awarded.

Flag Day will be observed at the next meeting June 17. The committee in charge of refreshments will be Mr. and Mrs. Robert Denman and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Radcliffe.

Dear Abby: Abby Tells on Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I sure get a kick out of your column. I don't suppose you really write all of it yourself. You probably have a staff of writers. And that picture of you is a lulu! How old is it? I'll bet you're really a fat old maid taking out her frustrations by telling other people how to run their lives. You get a letter with just one side of the story and you hand out advice like you knew all the answers. I'm a 31-year-old bachelor. And if that's your picture, and it's not 20 years old, I might even ask you to marry me. (How would you like to live in Salt Lake City?)

WOODY
DEAR WOODY: I don't have any writers, so I'll take all the credit for what is printed here. (And all the blame, too.) I do not give advice, I express an opinion. To give advice one must know both sides, but I do the best I can with the facts I have, and if I am able to help, I'm happy. The picture is mine, and it's comparatively recent. Salt Lake City would be fine with me, but I'm 15 years older than you, and very much married, so I won't hold you to your offer.

DEAR ABBY: I am 24 years old and just had the most bewildering proposal of marriage. He's a young man I've known a long time, but I never dreamed he was thinking of me as "wife material." He said he would marry me if I got my nose fixed. Now, I do have a big nose, but I accepted it as part of me, and it goes with my face, so I never considered getting it fixed. Frankly, I do not think it would make that much difference. It's not as though my nose stands between me and my being a perfect beauty. This young man would make a good husband, but I wonder if I should take his proposal under consideration.

DEAR MISS S.: If your nose has never bothered you and you have never considered getting it "fixed," tell the young man that your nose goes where you go. And if he doesn't want you, nose and all, heaven knows he is not for you.

DEAR ABBY: Can you answer a few very simple questions for me? I am the mother of four children and this is very important to me. What is the correct definition of "common-law marriage"? Where is it recognized? What does "community property" mean? Is that the same all over? Exactly what is the legal definition of "bigamy"? And finally, what does "extradite" mean? I thank you.

GETTING NERVOUS
DEAR GETTING: You don't need a dictionary - you need a lawyer. I suggest you get one immediately. It's his business to keep a confidence, so don't be afraid to tell him the truth.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell, "Poor Dad," whose college freshman son borrows his neckties, to count his blessings. When sonny gets to his second year, he'll probably do his best to sever those "family ties" you advised him to strengthen. My son, now a sophomore, wears a beard, seldom gets a haircut, dresses in jeans, sweaters and boots. And as a point of honor - NEVER wears a tie. The day he borrows his Dad's ties will be the day we'll all sigh, "Thank heavens he's back to normal!"

BEATNIK'S MOM
CONFIDENTIAL TO "NO SUCKER" IN NEWARK: Better allow yourself something for "courting." Most girls want to marry a man who saves money, but very few care to go out with him.

Ailing Injuns Carve Win Over Detroit

CLEVELAND (AP) — During the three days the Cleveland Indians were idle prior to Friday night's 7-6 victory over Detroit, the club physician treated five players for virus infection.

From the way the five performed in the come-from-behind triumph, Dr. Vic Ippolito should keep on hand a big supply of the medicine prescribed. Here's the rundown on the virus sufferers:

Joe Azcue—pinch-hit off reliever Larry Sherry in the eighth inning, driving home the tying and winning runs.

Pedro Gonzalez — Slammed his first major league home run in the third inning with two men on via walks from Hank Aguirre.

Leon Wagner—Beat out a single off Aguirre's leg in the third and drove in a run on a ground out in the seventh.

Dick Howser — Made two hits, one a double, and scored twice.

Chuck Hinton—Drew an eighth-inning walk and scored the winning run on Azcue's hit.

The quiet accounted for five of the Indians' eight hits. Vic Davallillo got two of the other three—a pair of singles that raised his batting average to .349. He is second in the league to Detroit's Willie Horton who had a single in four trips and averages .370.

Cincinnati Finally Wins Over Giants

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati's pitchers "refound" themselves Friday night as the Reds knocked off the San Francisco Giants for the first time this season, 4-2.

Catcher John Edwards was the big gun at the plate, socking his eighth home run in the second inning that scored Frank Robinson, who had doubled, and Deron Johnson, who had singled.

Joey Jay, with clutch relief pitching from young Billy McCool, registered his fourth victory against only one loss. McCool snuffed out a Giant threat in the eighth and struck up the side in the ninth.

Jay, who has had his share of troubles this season, pitched five innings before tightness in his right arm forced him to leave. He held San Francisco hitless the first four frames, but gave up three successive singles in the fifth. The Giants, however, failed to score then.

Edwards clouted his homer off Giants starter and loser Gaylord Perry, who struck out 11 but went down to his fourth defeat in eight decisions.

Joe Nuxhall took over the Cincinnati pitching in the sixth and was tagged for a single by Jesus Alou and a home run by Willie McCovey, his 13th.

Cincinnati converted two errors into its other run in the seventh inning.

Boros Takes Command in Buick Open

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) —Add Julius Boros to the list of people not afraid of the tough Warwick Hills golf course. He shot a two-under par 70 Friday to grab the second round lead in the $100,000 Buick Open.

His 139 gave him a two-stroke lead over seven others, including defending champion Tony Lema, Gary Player, Doug Sanders, Jack Nicklaus, and first-round leader Steve Spray.

Player, who recorded one of three 68s, said he was very happy with his round, especially on "this monster course."

George Archer and Jacky Cupit had the other 68s over the 7,800-yard layout, longest course on the pro tour.

Only 14 pros checked in with sub-par scores after two rounds of play.

Boros, 45, had four birdies and two bogies and holed a 50-foot explosion shot from a bunker on the eighth hole.

It took a score of 150 or better to advance to the final two rounds.

Among the casualties were U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi. Bruce Crampton, the only three-time winner on this year's tour; Mike Souchak, who won here in 1960, Don January, Chi Chi Rodriguez and Bob Charles.

Legion Tilt Set

The American Legion baseball team will meet at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Ted Lewis Park prior to a trip to Greenfield for a game, it was announced today by Chet Iery Sr., team manager.

Cardinal pitchers Curt Simmons and Ray Sadecki won four games each from the Phils last season.

Series Hero Hoot Gibson Taking Lumps

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hoot Gibson hasn't had so much trouble since the time the Indians surrounded him in a burning wagon and he ran out of bullets.

Of course, the old-time movie hero got out of that one.

The St. Louis Cardinals' Hoot Gibson, sometimes known as Bob, still has his bullets, but he doesn't know whether he's going to get out of his current jam.

The Card right-hander fired one at Ron Brand Friday night and the Houston catcher sent it ricocheting into the stands for a three-run homer and a 5-2 victory.

It pinned the third straight loss on the Cards' 1964 World Series hero, marked St. Louis' ninth loss in 11 games and sent the World Champions dipping to the .500 mark.

They remained in fifth place, still 6½ games back, when National League-leading Los Angeles dropped a 5-2 decision at Milwaukee. The New York Mets won their fourth straight, holding off the Pirates 2-1 at Pittsburgh, and the Reds edged San Francisco 4-2 in other night games.

Philadelphia blanked the Cubs 6-0 at Chicago in the only day game.

In the American League, Chicago beat the New York Yankees 2-0 in 11 innings, Cleveland nipped Detroit 7-6, Minnesota bombed Washington 9-5 and the Los Angeles Angels edged Baltimore 4-3. Boston at Kansas City was rained out.

Gibson was breezing along with a one-hitter and a 1-0 lead when he walked Joe Morgan in the sixth. Walt Bond promptly homered for a 2-1 Houston lead.

The Cards tied it later and it went to the ninth. A walk and Rusty Staub's single preceded Brand's two-out homer, his first of the season and only the fifth hit off Gibson.

A three-run homer in the ninth broke up another game at Milwaukee. Eddie Mathews' 11th of the season did the job in that one, pulling the second-place Braves to within four games of the Dodgers.

Wade Blasingame started the winning rally with a single, followed by Felipe Alou's single.

Catcher Johnny Edwards' three-run homer, his third in four games, was the decisive factor in the Reds' victory over San Francisco.

Willie McCovey's two-run shot accounted for all the Giant runs. Joey Jay was credited with the victory, but had to leave after five innings when his arm tightened.

The Mets' victory came in typical Met fashion — the winning run crossed in the seventh when the Pirates' Bill Mazeroski dropped the ball on an attempted double play, which would have ended the inning.

Jack Fisher went the distance for his fifth victory, while Bob Friend lost his second in 15 lifetime decisions against New York.

Jim Bunning's five-hitter and a two-run homer by Wes Covington were enough to win against Chicago, but the Cubs chipped in with a couple of errors that made it even easier.

State Trapshoot Test Draws 1,000 Entries

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—The 79th annual Ohio State Trapshooting Championships will have more than 1,000 shotguns enthusiasts on the firing line for the five days of action starting June 16.

The finest clay target shooters in the state and around the nation are expected to take part in the tournament, one of the state's oldest, to compete for $5,000 in prize money.

Bill Davis, Lynchburg funeral director, is defending singles champ.

Team 5 took the lead in the Men's Golf League at the Pickaway Country Club, defeating Team 2 Thursday. The league leader has a total of 67 points, compared to 66½ points for Team 3 and 66 for Team 1.

In Thursday's action 1 defeated 7 and 3 beat 8, while team 4 tied for fourth with 7, defeated 6. Both 7 and 4 have 60½ points.

Team 6 has 52½ points, 2 has 52 points and 8 has 44 points. Dean MacFadden and Don Dawson shared medalist honors Thursday, carding identical gross scores of 36. Bill Smith had low net score with a 33.

NINE country clubs are scheduled to compete in the Junior Southeastern Ohio Golf Assn. tournament June 12 at the PCC.

They are: Marietta, Chillicothe, Athens, Jackson, Logan, Lancaster, Cambridge, Gallipolis and PCC. Six man teams from each of the country clubs will compete with the four best scores totaled.

Pickaway Country Club pro Tom Cassidy said spectators are encouraged to watch the match, noting "there should be some real good golf."

Qualifying for the event was Tim Dickinson, a member of the Ohio University golf team, with a 75.

The Ladies Invitational will be held at the country club June 10. On June 11, the PCC Junior Golf League is scheduled to get underway. The league is for youngsters in their teens.

Already registered for the junior league are Tommy Muck, Shawn MacFadden, Denise MacFadden, Mike Dortch, Billy Camp, Bill Adkins and Billy Sibbick.

IN THE National Golf Day tournament Monday, Dr. J. M. Hedges with a net 65, was the only golfer to beat the pros, Bobby Nichols and Ken Venturi. He will receive a medal from the PGA.

A best ball twosome of the country club was won by Bill Sibbick and Vern Hawks with 58. Finishing second in the event were Bill Shockley and Dr. J. M. Hedges with 60s.

BGSU Grad Offered WCH Grid Position

Charles Edward Pratt, 26, a graduate of Bowling Green State University, has been offered the head football coaching position at Washington C. H.

Pratt, who has never had experience as a head coach, will replace Richard Anders. Anders compiled a 25-23-2 record during his five-year tenure as head coach of the Blue Lions.

Pratt is a graduate of Maumee High School and holds a Master's degree at Bowling Green.

He was a member of the undefeated 1959 Bowling Green squad. He has had two years teaching experience at Perrysburg High School and one year at Gonzales High School, Calif.

At Perrysburg he was the center and guard coach and also assisted in basketball and wrestling. At the California school he assisted in football, basketball and track.

In 1964, he served as freshman tackle coach at Bowling Green.

Hamilton Trotter Cops HTA Feature

DETROIT (AP)—Trotting the fastest mile of the Wolverine Raceway meeting, Argo Kid outlasted strong competition from Dartmouth and speedy Rodney to win the $10,845 Harness Tracks of America Trot Friday night.

Owned by the Ohio Valley Stables, Hamilton, Ohio, Argo Kid went to the post a 2-5 favorite with veteran Charley King in the sulky and paid $2.80, $2.20, $2.20. The 4-year-old favorite staved off Dartmouth in the stretch to finish the mile in 2:02 1-5.

Youth Baseball Program Will Open Here Monday

The Circleville Youth Baseball Program schedule gets underway Monday with 10 of the 37 teams seeing action.

The program this year has expanded to include an additional two teams in the Mosquito League and one in the Little League Minors.

By the end of the summer, more than 500 youngsters will have played 214 games, exclusive of tournament and playoff competition.

From now until mid August, when the program comes to an end, baseball fans may go to any one of six locations to watch their favorites play.

AT TED LEWIS PARK, the main diamond and the Little League diamond will be utilized. Two diamonds are in operation at the fairgrounds and the Mosquito League teams play at the Atwater and South Court St. Schools.

Here is the week's schedule:

LITTLE, BIG GUY By Alan Mauer

VIC DAVALILLO, CLEVELAND CENTER FIELDER, HAS BEEN RATED ONE OF THE BETTER GLOVE MEN SINCE HE CAME UP TO THE TRIBE IN '63.

AND, THAT TALENT HAS NEVER BEEN MORE USEFUL THAN THIS YEAR WHEN HE'S BEEN FLANKED BY ROCKY COLAVITO AND LEON WAGNER, NOT EXACTLY MERCURY TYPES.

But this spring he's also become one of his league's best bat men. The 5-7, 150-pounder is busy slugging his way to career highs in homers and RBIs.

Ohio Fishing Prospects Still 'Good'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife reported today that fishing conditions are fair to good throughout most of the state despite local rains causing some streams to be roily or muddy.

The outlook by areas: CENTRAL—Most streams and lakes are clear and normal. Trout are hitting in the Mad River. In Delaware, Hoover and O'Shaughnessy reservoirs bluegills, carp and crappies are hitting well. In Buckeye, Indian and Knox Lakes fish of all species are biting. Some wall-eyes are being taken at Indian.

NORTHWEST—In the Maumee River blueheads and carp are hitting while in the Sandusky and Portage rivers, catfish, carp and white bass are biting. In the Huron River large number of smallmouths are being caught. In Charles Mill, Pleasant Hill and Clear Fork reservoirs some bass and channel catfish are being caught.

NORTHEAST—Both lake and stream fishing here are good. Some of the best areas are: Pleasant Hill, Ashland County; Atwood and Leesville, Carroll; Builford and Jeppernick, Columbiana; and Clendenen have reported good catches of bass, bluegills and several other kinds.

SOUTHEAST—A few of the good productive spots here include: Dow Lake, Athens County; Piedmont, Belmont; Hocking, Hocking; Jackson, Jackson; Forked Run, Meigs; Monroe, Monroe; Seneca, Noble; Clouse, Perry, and Veto, Washington. Most major streams are likewise productive, especially the Muskingum where channel catfish and flatheads are being taken on trotlines.

SOUTHWEST—Best fishing here is in the following counties: Highland, Mercer, Miami, Shelby, Auglaize, Brown, Clark and Clermont. Rocky Fork lake is producing good catches as are Grand Lake - St. Marys, Clark, Stonelick and Cowan. Stream fishing is just fair.

LAKE ERIE - SANDUSKY BAY—Good catches of white bass, catfish, perch and sheepshead are coming from the island area. Some smallmouths are also reported. In Sandusky Bay catfish, carp and a few perch are showing up. At Cataraugus and sheepshead are biting well.

John (Jackie) Gordon, general manager of the Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League the last four seasons, will assist general manager Emile Francis of the New York Rangers.

Youth Realized His Weaknesses

PRESIDENTIAL AWARD—Edwin Bassemier of Evansville, Ind., chats with President Johnson after the young student was named "Boy of the Year." He earned coveted title over 600,000 other boys.

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Sophomoris" may be the most serious ailment afflicting American youth, because it may make him or break him, says Edwin Bassemier, 17, of Evansville, Ind.

The handsome high school senior is this year's "finest example of juvenile decency," a member of the 635 Boys Clubs of America.

Ed pleads for understanding of the growing-up malaise that hits fellows in their sophomore year—somewhere around 15 or 16.

The symptoms? Rebellion in one form or another that makes him resentful of everyone but his own crowd. What he needs most is understanding coupled with patience and discipline, Ed says.

In beating the "danger year," Ed managed to win the organizations coveted "Boy of the Year" title over 600,000 other boys. But the 6-foot, blond youth wasn't always a star-studded type, he says. He frustrated teachers and his mother.

"But they didn't give up on me. The main thing was they kept telling me I could be better. They didn't think I was listening. But I was."

And that's the key to the improvement plan, he says. A boy should know he isn't really bad just because he wants to goof off from everything in that sophomore year. He'll wind up thinking the whole thing out some day.

That's the way it happened with Ed.

At 12, he had become an enigma after the death of his father, a fireman. He was ripe for being a chip-on-the-shoulder sophomore. He became a real smartaleck.

"I managed to roll up 29 demerits in 9 weeks—causing class disturbances, goofing off whenever I felt like it, talking back, chewing gum. I just didn't care..."

He had one more demerit to go before being expelled when he began to realize the score—if he didn't put out, he'd be shut out of baseball, football, basketball, sports he loved. Suddenly, he realized those things were more important than sassing teachers and showing off.

"I decided the boys I hung around with were just trying to see how much they could get away with in every way they could, and they were wasting time doing it," he explains. "I made a clean break of it. I gave up my crowd, transferred to another school, became ac-

Columbus Eyed By Leaders in IL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs are playing an important series against Atlanta, but it's a good bet the International League leaders have an eye on Columbus.

Toronto blasted Atlanta 8-0 Friday night, opening a 1 game lead over the Crackers in the standings. Meantime, Columbus scored three runs in the ninth inning to beat Syracuse 6-5 for its sixth victory in its last seven games.

Jacksonville edged Buffalo 2-0 and Toledo whipped Rochester 3-2.

For Columbus, now just 3 1/2 games behind Toronto, the big blow was a two-run single by Jack Damaska.

Ed pleads for understanding of the growing-up malaise that hits fellows in their sophomore year — somewhere around 15 or 16.

The symptoms? Rebellion in one form or another that makes him resentful of everyone but his own crowd. What he needs most is understanding coupled with patience and discipline, Ed says.

In beating the "danger year", Ed managed to win the organizations coveted "Boy of the Year" title over 600,000 other boys. But the 6-foot, blond student wasn't always a star-studded type, he says. He frustrated teachers and his mother.

"But they didn't give up on me. The main thing was they kept telling me I could be better. They didn't think I was listening. But I was."

And that's the key to the improvement plan, he says. A boy should know he isn't really bad just because he wants to goof off from everything in that sophomore year. He'll wind up thinking the whole thing out some day.

That's the way it happened with Ed.

At 12, he had become an enigma after the death of his father, a fireman. He was ripe for being a chip-on-the-shoulder sophomore. He became a real smartaleck.

"I managed to roll up 29 demerits in 9 weeks — causing class disturbances, goofing off whenever I felt like it, talking back, chewing gum. I just didn't care..."

He had one more demerit to go before being expelled when he began to realize the score — if he didn't put out, he'd be shut out of baseball, football, basketball, sports he loved. Suddenly, he realized those things were more important than sassing teachers and showing off.

"I decided the boys I hung around with were just trying to see how much they could get away with in every way they could, and they were wasting time doing it," he explains. "I made a clean break of it. I gave up my crowd, transferred to another school, became active in church and the Boy's Club.

Ed's grades went from C-minus to B-plus average with an A in mechanics curriculum. His conduct was excellent. He won all-city honors in baseball and has played varsity football.

"I didn't get to the drop-out stage, really, but lots of fellows did. Then they'd get involved with girls and some of them would get married," he says.

That kind of marriage can't work, he comments, because "most times they just marry because school isn't working out right."

After earning a degree in mechanical engineering, Ed hopes also to be a sports coach to help other boys understand. Last summer he worked with retarded children at a Police Athletic League (PAL) camp. He might also like to play big league ball some day.

Until he was installed as Boy of the Year by President Johnson recently in Washington, the farthest he'd been from Evansville was about 150 miles, he says. Now that he has sat in the President's chair, visited with Sen. Vance Hartke of Indiana, been to the United Nations and attended a major league baseball game, the world looks pretty big and his plans are expanding.

"There really is so much more to life than a fellow realized when he is a sophomore," says Ed.

Columbus Eyed By Leaders in IL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Toronto Maple Leafs are playing an important series against Atlanta, but it's a good bet the International League leaders have an eye on Columbus.

Toronto blasted Atlanta 8-0 Friday night, opening a 1 game lead over the Crackers in the standings. Meantime, Columbus scored three runs in the ninth inning to beat Syracuse 6-5 for its sixth victory in its last seven games.

Jacksonville edged Buffalo 2-0 and Toledo whipped Rochester 5-2.

For Columbus, now just 3 1/2 games behind Toronto, the big blow was a two-run single by Jack Damaska.

People of Red China Still Plagued by Empty Stomachs

By JERRY KLEIN
Central Press Association
Correspondent

WASHINGTON — In spite of the most dramatic Communist efforts to raise living standards, empty stomachs continue to plague the people of Red China. This is the situation behind the Bamboo Curtain, according to research analysts at the United States Department of Agriculture.

Mainland China's total agricultural production barely equals the 1957 output. Progress continues to be offset by a mushrooming population.

More crops and livestock are significantly scarcer than they were in 1957 just before the Communists started their so-called "great leap forward" in production. Food crops, mostly grain, are making a slight gain and almost equal those of 1957. However, because there are so many more mouths to feed, per capita production is again far below the pre-leap level.

Communist China's low calorie diet remains far below the standards that nutritionists accept as the very minimum. What meager improvements have been made in the diet have come mainly from production efforts of peasants working on private plots of ground. However, despite price adjustments, some peasants' buying power is too small to obtain additional food.

Especially in South China, increased amounts of food do not reach the peasants. Food packages from Chinese living outside the Red regime, which had reached some 25 million parcels in 1961 and 1962, declined rapidly when the Communists in 1963 started to demand that money be sent instead of food.

The Peking regime continues to need large imports of grain from the free world: the total since 1960 has exceeded 22 million tons at an estimated cost of $1 1/2 billion. If present contracts are fulfilled, this year's grain imports will be larger than ever, over 6 million tons.

Large amounts of grain remain to be delivered to Red China by Canada this year and next, if tentative contracts are confirmed. Argentina also has agreed to make deliveries to the Communists this year and next. Further negotiations are expected to lead to purchases from France and Australia.

Official statements from Peking talk of increased exports of rice, but available evidence does not support these statements. Still, weather conditions in mainland China through last September were more favorable for agriculture than any comparable period in the past six years and losses due to natural causes seem small.

From September 1963 to July 1964 rainfall over China varied from adequate to excessive, and a wet year induces a larger effort to cultivate more land. But insects and crop diseases also pose a greater threat and 1964 was no exception to this.

Mainland China's agricultural production still lags far behind the people's needs. The Communist regime continues unable to show any appreciable advance or stability in food production, a fact that is acknowledged in Peking itself.

More Oklahoma Judges Linked to Bribe Scandal

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A weary old man — a former member of the Oklahoma Supreme Court — stunned a federal court Friday by implicating three present members of the high state court in a bribery scandal.

The witness, N. S. Corn, 81 and in failing health, testified at the perjury trial of former Oklahoma City mayor O. J. Cargill Sr., 80, that Cargill helped for 20 years to finance his election campaigns in return for his vote on the high court.

Corn, who at one point told presiding Dist. Court Judge Roy W. Harper, St. Louis, "I violated my oath and I ruined myself completely, disgraced my family, disappointed my friends," said Cargill told him that five other justices on the nine-member court also had been "taken care of."

He identified them as Chief Justice Harry L. S. Halley, Denver Davidson and W. H. Blackbird, and two former members of the court, Earl Welch and N. B. Johnson.

Welch resigned from the bench after being convicted of income tax evasion. Johnson was removed by the Senate on charges of accepting bribes.

Cargill is accused of lying to a federal grand jury when he said he did not know of bribes paid to the Supreme Court.

Corn appeared near exhaustion at the end of five hours on the stand. For four hours he was cross-examined by chief defense counsel Percy Foreman, Houston, Tex.

Foreman brought out that in 12 cases involving Cargill before the Supreme Court that Corn did not vote for Cargill's clients in all instances.

"He didn't call me on those cases, or he called me and told me that he had the same kind of a deal with the other side and I voted the way I wanted to," Corn replied.

Corn said he meant attorneys opposing Cargill when he said "the other side."

The aging ex-justice, who last December completed five months of an 18-month federal prison term for income tax evasion, said Cargill paid him $4,500 while he was on the bench.

Earlier in the trial, which will resume Monday, witness Hugh Carroll testified he had paid Corn $150,000 to see that Carroll's firm, Selected Investments Corp., received favorable decisions. Corn said he paid $7,500 each to Welch and Johnson.

Hey, Mom, Pack a Lunch; Let's Go to the Funeral

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Gerald McKinney wants people to have a picnic at his funeral. McKinney, 42-year-old Springfield factory worker, expects 5,000 or more to show up Sunday for the early funeral he has arranged on the fairgrounds here.

"People can bring lunches and come early," for a picnic on the fairgrounds, McKinney said. "A lot are going to do that."

McKinney plans to enjoy the service—with a theme of "give me roses while I live"—while standing in front of the fairgrounds grandstand beside the casket he got for the occasion.

The ceremony will open with a procession from a funeral home and McKinney says a lodge plans to participate in this. He plans to have lots of music from various groups.

Many of the songs will concern roses, but there will be hymns and more traditional funeral music, too.

"This is going to be real serious," he said.

McKinney's sister and some other relatives objected to his plans—and he's not even sure his wife will attend—but he went ahead by himself. The county fair board made him promise not to have any commercialization—not even refreshments—and made him take out a $100,000 liability insurance policy.

McKinney got the idea from his great-grandfather, who had such an early service in 1896, eight years before he died.

McKinney's service is one day before the anniversary of his great-grandfather's rite, which drew 6,000 to 8,000 persons.

McKinney said he's dedicating his service to his father.

"He wanted to have this," McKinney explained, "but he waited too long."

Fraklin Kjeldgaard, 25, nephew of Andreas, was taken to a Denver hospital with wounds in the neck and back. The hospital said today he was in critical condition.

It was noon when the gunman drove up to the little red-brick bank on Main Street.

Franklin Kjeldgaard, barely able to talk, told police the man "didn't seem tough" when he entered the bank. He said the killer was about 35, and wore his hair crew cut. He was neatly dressed in a dark suit.

Only the senior Kjeldgaard and his three employees were in the bank. The man first asked about obtaining a loan. Then he pulled a pistol and ordered the four victims to lie on the floor, face down.

Franklin Kjeldgaard wasn't certain what happened next. But state authorities said the bandit looted the cash drawers of about $1,500, and then walked into the vault. He found the safe locked.

He then returned to the main room and started shooting. Sheriff Stahr said eight 22-caliber cartridge shells were found on the floor.

As the gunman walked out of the bank he bumped into farmer Otto Mauser.

"Good morning," he said politely.

Mauser continued into the bank. The man got into a 1965 model car and drove unhurriedly away.

Greater Rights Effort Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for a new civil rights effort to achieve true equality for the American Negro—"not just equality as a right and a theory."

Johnson, delivering the commencement address Friday night at predominantly Negro Howard University, said the great majority of Negro Americans "still are another nation."

"Despite the court orders and the laws, the victories and speeches, for them the walls are rising and the gulf is widening," the President said.

Citing statistics on employment and income to show that Negroes, in some ways, are faring worse today than 5 or 10 years ago, Johnson said this represented an "American failure."

The President, who took the occasion to announce plans for a special White House conference next fall to explore such problems, said:

"It is not enough to open the gates of opportunity. All our citizens must have the ability to walk through those gates."

"This is the next and the more profound stage of the battle for civil rights. We seek not just freedom but opportunity — not just legal equity but human ability — not just equality as a right and a theory, but equality as a fact and a result."

Johnson, applauded frequently, spoke of seeking justice for the Negro and said:

"I pledge this will be a chief goal of my administration, and of my program next year, and in years to come. I hope it will be part of the program of all America."

Johnson, who looked ahead to a time "when the only difference between Negroes and whites is the color of their skin," said:

"The task is to give 20 million Negroes the same chance as every other American to learn and grow — to work and share in society — to develop their abilities, physical, mental and spiritual — and to pursue their individual happiness."

For this, he said, equal opportunity "is essential but not enough — not enough."

The Johnson speech and conference plan brought praise from several leaders of essentially Negro organizations.

Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said it was "a magnificent statement showing sensitivity and perceptiveness."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, also praised the President's proposals, but added: "It will be even more meaningful if there is speedy passage of a voter rights bill in the meantime, and unequivocal federal backing for a massive voter registration drive this summer."

More Oklahoma Judges Linked to Bribe Scandal

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — A weary old man — a former member of the Oklahoma Supreme Court — stunned a federal court Friday by implicating three present members of the high state court in a bribery scandal.

The witness, N. S. Corn, 81 and in failing health, testified at the perjury trial of former Oklahoma City mayor O. J. Cargill Sr., 80, that Cargill helped for 20 years to finance his election campaigns in return for his vote on the high court.

Corn, who at one point told presiding Dist. Court Judge Roy W. Harper, St. Louis, "I violated my oath and I ruined myself completely, disgraced my family, disappointed my friends," said Cargill told him that five other justices on the nine-member court also had been "taken care of."

He identified them as Chief Justice Harry L. S. Halley, Denver Davidson and W. H. Blackbird, and two former members of the court, Earl Welch and N. B. Johnson.

Welch resigned from the bench after being convicted of income tax evasion. Johnson was removed by the Senate on charges of accepting bribes.

Cargill is accused of lying to a federal grand jury when he said he did not know of bribes paid to the Supreme Court.

Corn appeared near exhaustion at the end of five hours on the stand. For four hours he was cross-examined by chief defense counsel Percy Foreman, Houston, Tex.

Foreman brought out that in 12 cases involving Cargill before the Supreme Court that Corn did not vote for Cargill's clients in all instances.

"He didn't call me on those cases, or he called me and told me that he had the same kind of a deal with the other side and I voted the way I wanted to," Corn replied.

Corn said he meant attorneys opposing Cargill when he said "the other side."

The aging ex-justice, who last December completed five months of an 18-month federal prison term for income tax evasion, said Cargill paid him $4,500 while he was on the bench.

Earlier in the trial, which will resume Monday, witness Hugh Carroll testified he had paid Corn $150,000 to see that Carroll's firm, Selected Investments Corp., received favorable decisions. Corn said he paid $7,500 each to Welch and Johnson.

Hey, Mom, Pack a Lunch; Let's Go to the Funeral

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Gerald McKinney wants people to have a picnic at his funeral. McKinney, 42-year-old Springfield factory worker, expects 5,000 or more to show up Sunday for the early funeral he has arranged on the fairgrounds here.

"People can bring lunches and come early," for a picnic on the fairgrounds, McKinney said. "A lot are going to do that."

McKinney plans to enjoy the service—with a theme of "give me roses while I live"—while standing in front of the fairgrounds grandstand beside the casket he got for the occasion.

The ceremony will open with a procession from a funeral home and McKinney says a lodge plans to participate in this. He plans to have lots of music from various groups.

Many of the songs will concern roses, but there will be hymns and more traditional funeral music, too.

"This is going to be real serious," he said.

McKinney's sister and some other relatives objected to his plans—and he's not even sure his wife will attend—but he went ahead by himself. The county fair board made him promise not to have any commercialization—not even refreshments—and made him take out a $100,000 liability insurance policy.

McKinney got the idea from his great-grandfather, who had such an early service in 1896, eight years before he died.

McKinney's service is one day before the anniversary of his great-grandfather's rite, which drew 6,000 to 8,000 persons.

McKinney said he's dedicating his service to his father.

"He wanted to have this," McKinney explained, "but he waited too long."

Franklin Kjeldgaard, 25, nephew of Andreas, was taken to a Denver hospital with wounds in the neck and back. The hospital said today he was in critical condition.

It was noon when the gunman drove up to the little red-brick bank on Main Street.

Franklin Kjeldgaard, barely able to talk, told police the man "didn't seem tough" when he entered the bank. He said the killer was about 35, and wore his hair crew cut. He was neatly dressed in a dark suit.

Only the senior Kjeldgaard and his three employees were in the bank. The man first asked about obtaining a loan. Then he pulled a pistol and ordered the four victims to lie on the floor, face down.

Franklin Kjeldgaard wasn't certain what happened next. But state authorities said the bandit looted the cash drawers of about $1,500, and then walked into the vault. He found the safe locked.

He then returned to the main room and started shooting. Sheriff Stahr said eight 22-caliber cartridge shells were found on the floor.

As the gunman walked out of the bank he bumped into farmer Otto Mauser.

"Good morning," he said politely.

Mauser continued into the bank. The man got into a 1965 model car and drove unhurriedly away.

The United States aircraft carrier Enterprise, largest and most powerful ship ever built, can roam the seas for years without refueling.

Stade, a city of about 35,000 people, is situated near the mouth of the Elbe River halfway between Hamburg and the sea. Founded in 450 A. D., it is much older than Hamburg which was founded by Charlemagne in 815 A. D.

The German community is the residence of the district government. Industries include shipbuilding, oil, leather, rubber, lumber and salt. It lies in a large agricultural belt with considerable crop farms, fruit orchards and dairy farms.

Circleville's "matched" club at Stade was founded in 1955. D. Fiedler noted that although the community has a population of about 35,000 — the Rotary Club has a membership of only 33. In Germany, Rotary is more of an exclusive club than in the United States. The membership is purposely held to a minimum.

THE FIEDLERS have three sons: 21, 15 and 8 years of age. The oldest son plans to tour the United States during the summer. And after graduating from college in Germany he will return to the U. S. where he will receive his political science education.

Yesterday evening Dr. Fiedler was a guest at a meeting of the Pickaway County Medical Society held at Tink's Tavern.

He and his wife, as guests of the Smiths, plan to visit throughout the area prior to Tuesday's Rotary meeting, play golf and relax.

NEW TRIAL AFTER 33 YEARS IN PRISON—The Rev. Carl Bengert, 65, is shown in Grand Rapids, Mich., with a niece, Mrs. Dorothy Coykendall, where he went for the new trial granted to Henry Bedford (shown), who has served 33 years in the triple slaying of Bengert's wife and two children. Bedford, 75, argues he was a "quickie justice" victim. Says Bengert, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church in Pompano, Fla., "I bear him no ill will, I bear him no good will."

Greater Rights Effort Is Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has called for a new civil rights effort to achieve true equality for the American Negro—"not just equality as a right and a theory."

Johnson, delivering the commencement address Friday night at predominantly Negro Howard University, said the great majority of Negro Americans "still are another nation."

"Despite the court orders and the laws, the victories and speeches, for them the walls are rising and the gulf is widening," the President said.

Citing statistics on employment and income to show that Negroes, in some ways, are faring worse today than 5 or 10 years ago, Johnson said this represented an "American failure."

The President, who took the occasion to announce plans for a special White House conference next fall to explore such problems, said:

"It is not enough to open the gates of opportunity. All our citizens must have the ability to walk through those gates."

"This is the next and the more profound stage of the battle for civil rights. We seek not just freedom but opportunity — not just legal equity but human ability — not just equality as a right and a theory, but equality as a fact and a result."

Johnson, applauded frequently, spoke of seeking justice for the Negro and said:

"I pledge this will be a chief goal of my administration, and of my program next year, and in years to come. I hope it will be part of the program of all America."

Johnson, who looked ahead to a time "when the only difference between Negroes and whites is the color of their skin," said:

"The task is to give 20 million Negroes the same chance as every other American to learn and grow — to work and share in society — to develop their abilities, physical, mental and spiritual — and to pursue their individual happiness."

For this, he said, equal opportunity "is essential but not enough — not enough."

The Johnson speech and conference plan brought praise from several leaders of essentially Negro organizations.

Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, said it was "a magnificent statement showing sensitivity and perceptiveness."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, also praised the President's proposals, but added: "It will be even more meaningful if there is speedy passage of a voter rights bill in the meantime, and unequivocal federal backing for a massive voter registration drive this summer."
